In 2006, the Stanford women's soccer team completed its best season since 2002, going 15-6-2 (.696) and making its first trip to the NCAA Sweet Sixteen since the '02 season. In 2007, Stanford further improved, notching a 15-3-5 record (.761), and reaching the Sweet Sixteen for the second year in a row (the 17th overall appearance in the NCAA Tournament). The Cardinal held a top-five national ranking for the majority of the year, including a run in which it was the top-ranked program for a total of three weeks in the fall.

In 2008, the expectations for Stanford soccer will be even higher.

Although the Cardinal will be without the services of graduated players Rachel Buehler, Shari Summers, Lizzy George, April Wall, Erica Holland, and Mimi Yuhas, Stanford will welcome back six All-Pac-10 players, two All-Americans, the Pac-10 Freshman of the Year, and several athletes from injury. Also, the Cardinal has again brought in one of the top-10 ranked recruiting classes in the nation, of which several will contribute on the field immediately.

Head Coach Paul Ratcliffe, who enters his sixth season at the helm of the Cardinal, is confident in this year's squad's ability to continue the strong tradition of excellence on The Farm.

"I have high expectations for a successful season," said Ratcliffe. "We hope to build on last year's achievements, capture the Pac-10 title, and hopefully go deeper into the playoffs, namely to the national championship match at the College Cup."

"The keys to doing well this season will lie within staying healthy, working hard and building upon each practice and game, and playing to and above our potential," added Ratcliffe.

Once again, Ratcliffe has challenged his team with one of the toughest schedules in the nation, highlighted by the Stanford/Nike Classic in September that features traditional women's soccer powerhouses, Santa Clara and North Carolina, along with North Carolina-Greensboro. The Cardinal will face 10 teams that competed in the 2007 NCAA Tournament, and seven teams that finished the season ranked in the NSCAA top 25. Three teams on the Stanford agenda are fellow Sweet Sixteen participants, and two are coming off appearances in the 2007 College Cup.

The Cardinal kicks off 2008 action with a home opener on Sunday, Aug. 24 against Pacific. Stanford will remain at home for one more weekend, taking on two East Coast schools, Navy on Friday, Aug. 29, and Boston College on Sunday, Aug. 31.

The squad will then take to the air for a cross-country trip to Athens, Ga., for a tournament at the University of Georgia Sept. 5 - 7, where Stanford is slated to face Auburn on Friday and Georgia on Sunday.

The Cardinal will then return to The Farm for the Stanford/Nike Invitational Sept. 12 - 14, which should prove to be a spectacular event. Stanford will host North Carolina in the second game of a doubleheader (the first being Santa Clara-UNC-Greensboro) Friday evening, and will face UNC-Greensboro in the second game of Sunday's doubleheader.

The Cardinal will remain in the Bay Area Sept. 19 - 21, but will travel down El Camino Real to take part in the Santa Clara/adidas Classic. Stanford will play Yale in the first game of Friday night's doubleheader, and will take on Cal Poly in Sunday's opener.

Ali Riley

The Cardinal will then play a set of single-game weekends in which it will face two West Coast Conference squads. Saint Mary's comes across San Francisco Bay to Cagan Stadium Friday, Sept. 26 and local rival Santa Clara will host Stanford Friday, Oct. 3 in the Cardinal's final non-conference game of the season.

Stanford begins the Pac-10 season with a pair of games against the Oregon schools at home the weekend of Oct. 10 - 12, taking on Oregon Friday. Last season, the Pac-10 produced the national champions, USC, and another College Cup participant, UCLA. The Cardinal will be looking to improve upon its third-place finish in 2007, and in the Pac-10 coaches' poll it was selected as the favorite to win the conference title in 2008.

Following the Oregon games, Stanford will travel to the Northwest, taking on Washington and Washington State on Oct. 17 and 19.

The Cardinal will complete its regular-season home schedule against Arizona (Friday) and Arizona State (Sunday), the weekend of Oct. 24 - 26, before taking one last trip south to face UCLA (Oct. 31) and USC (Nov. 2).

Stanford will close out the regular season on the road against California on Saturday, Nov. 8.

Here's a look at the 2008 Stanford Cardinal by position:

Goalkeepers

Stanford returns two talented goalkeepers, sophomore Kira Maker and senior Alex Gamble, who will battle for the starting job. Both goalkeepers bring winning experience to the box, as Maker split time with Holland in 2007, while Gamble was instrumental in the Cardinal's stellar 2006 outing.

Maker, who started all 10 of her appearances as a freshman in 2007, recorded 850 minutes in goal and allowed only eight goals, earning a 0.85 goals-against-average. She gathered five wins and two shutouts, while saving 28 shots and posting a .778 save percentage.

Gamble saw action in just two games in 2007, playing the second half of a 4-1 victory over Saint Mary's and coming in for the shootout against California in the second round of the NCAA Tournament, making two saves to boost the Cardinal into the third round. In 2006, Gamble played in and started 14 games, posting five shutouts and a 0.86 GAA. She currently sits seventh on Stanford's career shutout list with 12.

Defenders

Stanford's back line is known as one of the stingiest in the country, having proven it by posting its seventh consecutive season with a GAA below one goal per game in 2007. The Cardinal loses two starters, All-American and U.S. Olympian Rachel Buehler and April Wall from the 2007 roster.

The back line will see a variety of players visit each of the four positions, as Buehler's exit from the center will leave some big shoes to fill. Look for senior All-Pac-10 honorable mention and co-captain Allison Falk, sophomores Allison McCann, a freshman All-American last season, and Alicia Jenkins, and freshman Kristy Zurmuhlen to share duties as the two center backs, as Ratcliffe will use preseason training and the opening games to determine the best combination. Falk and Abegg have played and started every single game over the past three years and will bring valuable leadership to the defense. McCann will be a key contributor in the back, and may also see time at midfield.

At outside, back two co-captains, senior Marisa Abegg, a U.S. youth national teamer and New Zealand international Ali Riley, fresh off competing at the Olympics, will most likely start the season for the Cardinal. Incoming high school All-American Cami Levin and redshirt sophomore Katie Riley, who is returning from injury, will vie for time on the flanks as well. Ali Riley may very well see time at other positions on the field, being an exceptional utility player.

Midfielders

The Cardinal will tout a highly skillful and creative midfield this season, with a mix of both college-game veterans and internationally-experienced newcomers who will help fill the void left by the graduated Shari Summers.

The crew in the center of the field will also be a dangerous one that will be able to create numerous scoring chances for Stanford.

Rookies Shira Averbuch, Lindsey Forte, Kristy Zurmuhlen, and highly-decorated, top-ranked recruit Teresa Noyola will join a solid core of senior Kelley Birch, junior Kristin Stannard, and redshirt juniors Lea MacKinnon and Hillary Heath to control the pace of play for Stanford. Stannard returns as the top-scoring midfielder, finishing fifth on the team in goals last season with four tallies and two assists, while Birch added a goal early in the season against Virginia. MacKinnon, who is returning from injury, was second in the Pac-10 with a team-leading seven assists in 2006. Heath, also returning from injury, was third on the team in points scored as a forward, notching three goals and six assists in 2006.

Marisa Abegg

Kelley O'Hara

As for the newcomers, Noyola could very well be a starter in her first season. The 2008 Gatorade High School and NSCAA/adidas National Player of the Year has played on numerous U.S. youth national teams and spent the summer training with former international and collegiate stars in order to prepare her for collegiate play. Youth All-American Averbuch, who is known for her spectacular shot amongst her other talents, and Forte also boast successful youth careers that will no doubt give them a head-start advancing into the college game.

Forwards

Stanford's offense is highlighted by All-American junior Kelley O'Hara, a 2007 MAC Hermann Trophy semifinalist. The All-Pac-10 selection and frequent U.S. national team player followed up a stellar 2006 rookie performance to lead the team in goals (9), points (23), game-winning goals (4), and shots (65), and was second on the team in assists (5) in her sophomore effort.

Another top returning striker for the Cardinal is Pac-10 Freshman of the Year and freshmen All-American Christen Press. Press, now a sophomore, led the team in assists (6), and was second in goals (8), points (22), and shots (60) last season.

The top line is rounded out by Lindsay Taylor, who has the potential to become a starter in her rookie campaign, and by returners redshirt junior Austinn Freeman and sophomore Morgan Redman, who added four goals and two assists herself last season. Rookie Katie Finley and senior Kate Mannino will also challenge for playing time on one of the nation's most dangerous and dynamic front lines.

PAUL RATCLIFFE

HEAD COACH

Experience: Sixth Season
Alma Mater: UCLA '94

Paul Ratcliffe begins his sixth season as the head coach of the Stanford women's soccer program, having guided the Cardinal to a 63-31-15 overall record and five NCAA Tournament appearances during his tenure on The Farm.

Ratcliffe is coming off of the most successful season of his coaching career at Stanford. Under his guidance, the team finished with a 15-3-5 record, recorded its 20th consecutive winning season, and made its 10th-straight trip to the NCAA Tournament, reaching the Sweet Sixteen for the second year in a row. He also aided the Cardinal in maintaining its place among the dominant forces in the Pac-10 this past season, tying for third place after posting just one loss in a conference that produced the eventual national champion and three other teams that qualified for NCAA play.

Stanford acquired a long list of accomplishments under Ratcliffe in the 2007 season - 15 wins, 10 conference awards, 11 conference academic awards, nine shutouts, 46 goals, and a 0.74 goals-against-average. Stanford also achieved a top-five national ranking for the majority of the year, including a run in which the Cardinal was the top-ranked program for a total of three weeks in the fall.

The 2007 team featured a solid roster bolstered by several elite upperclassmen, including NCAA Top VIII Award winner Rachel Buehler, and outstanding underclassmen such as All-American Kelley O'Hara and Pac-10 Freshman of the Year Christen Press. Ratcliffe continues to attract the nation's best prep players to The Farm, displayed once again when he inked one of the nation's top newcomers for the 2008 season, Teresa Noyola, and yet another top-10 nationally-ranked recruiting class.

In 2006, Ratcliffe helped the Cardinal advance to the third round of the NCAA Tournament for the first time in his coaching tenure. The season set the standard even higher for Cardinal women's soccer, and continued a still running three-season span in which the team's winning percentage has increased every year. Ratcliffe also earned his 100th career win on Oct. 27, when the Cardinal shutout Oregon State 2-0.

In 2005, Ratcliffe added nine new faces to the lineup, a strong and talented group of freshmen that boasted four starters. Despite two veterans missing most of the season with injury, Ratcliffe helped the young squad to a fourth-place finish in the conference with a 10-7-3 overall record. Stanford advanced to the NCAA Tournament, earning a postseason berth for the 15th time in 16 seasons.

In 2004, Ratcliffe integrated a large class of freshmen with a veteran group of seniors, and the Cardinal posted a fourth-place finish in the Pac-10 and made it to the second round of the NCAA Tournament.

In 2003, Ratcliffe's first season on The Farm, Stanford went 10-9-2 and made another NCAA Tournament appearance.

Prior to his arrival at Stanford, Ratcliffe spent five seasons as the head coach at Saint Mary's, where he led the Gaels to a 55-34-7 overall record, with a 21-13 mark in West Coast Conference action. He was honored three times as WCC Coach of the Year, including 2001, one of Ratcliffe's most successful seasons in Moraga. That year, he was honored as the WCC Co-Coach of the Year and the NSCAA West Region Coach of the Year. With only one senior in the starting lineup, the Gaels attained the highest national ranking for the program (No. 7), set a school record with a 13-game winning streak and advanced to the second round of the NCAA Tournament.

Before his tenure in Moraga, Ratcliffe was an assistant coach at his alma mater, UCLA, from 1994-97. During his stretch with the Bruins, UCLA posted an undefeated 1997 Pac-10 title season and an NCAA Tournament Quarterfinal appearance. Ratcliffe also served as UCLA's interim head coach from January through August of 1996.

Ratcliffe earned his National "A" License from the United States Soccer Federation in 1999. A 1994 UCLA graduate, Ratcliffe earned his degree in Sociology with a specialization in Business Administration. As a Bruin, he lettered four years at midfield and was a member of the 1990 national championship team. He tallied 30 points in 73 matches during his career at UCLA.

After finishing his collegiate career, Ratcliffe played professionally in the Continental Indoor Soccer League for the Los Angeles United in 1993 and the Anaheim Splash in 1994.

Ratcliffe and his wife, Amy, live in San Jose and have two daughters, Elena and Chloe.

JAY COONEY

ASSISTANT COACH

Experience: Sixth Season

Jay Cooney begins his sixth season as an assistant coach with the program, where he will once again work closely with Stanford's goalkeepers under his tutelage. Cooney has helped Stanford to one of the best goals-against-averages in the nation during his time on The Farm. Last season, he guided the team to a 0.74 team GAA and nine shutouts with freshman Kira Maker and senior Erica Holland splitting time in the net.

In his first two seasons on The Farm, Cooney mentored two-time All-American and U.S. National Teamer Nicole Barnhart in the final years of her collegiate career. As a senior, Barnhart allowed only 10 goals in 22 games and finished her career with a school record 0.45 GAA.

Cooney came to Stanford after a successful stint as the goalkeeper coach for the San Jose CyberRays of the Women's United Soccer Association. In 2001, the CyberRays defeated the Atlanta Beat to be crowned the inaugural WUSA Champions, and under Cooney's guidance, San Jose goalkeeper LaKeysia Beene was honored as the 2001 WUSA Goalkeeper of the Year.

Prior to his position with the CyberRays, Cooney served as an assistant coach at the College of William & Mary. In Williamsburg, he was also the assistant director of Soccer Plus, a goalkeepers' school owned by Tony DiCicco, WUSA's chief operations officer and coach of the 1999 U.S. Women's World Cup team.

In 1999, Cooney was an assistant coach at Providence College, as well as an assistant coach for the Greater Boston Bolts Under-18 and Under-19 teams. He was the practice goalkeeper for the Boston Bulldogs, a Major League Soccer (MLS) affiliated A-League team.

Before his collegiate coaching career, Cooney was the head coach of the Wellesley (Mass.) High School varsity boys' team from 1993-98 and was named Bay State Coach of the Year in 1998.

Cooney and his wife, Greta, live in Menlo Park. The couple has a son, Finn.

THERESA WAGNER

ASSISTANT COACH

Experience: First Year

Theresa Wagner begins her first season as an assistant coach with the program after five seasons as an assistant coach with the University of San Diego, where she helped lead the Toreros to three NCAA Tournament appearances in 2003, 2004, and 2007.

This is Wagner's second stint on the coaching staff at Stanford, as she was a volunteer assistant coach for 2002's top-ranked Cardinal squad that went 21-

1-1. The team allowed just five goals the entire season and won the Pac-10 conference championship.

In 2003, Wagner was named as an assistant coach for the University of San Diego. She has also been the head coach of the San Diego Surf Club soccer team, where she led the team to the No. 1 national ranking.

Wagner had a standout career at the University of Washington. She earned All Pac-10 honors in all four years in a Washington uniform and also was a three-time All-Academic Pac-10 selection. ## ALBERTIN MONTOYA

VOLUNTEER ASSISTANT

Experience: First Year

Albertin Montoya begins his first season on the women's soccer coaching staff as a volunteer assistant.

A native of Los Altos, Calif., Montoya comes to The Farm with extensive coaching experience. After graduating from Santa Clara University in 1997, Montoya has spent the past ten years coaching and training players, from youths to professionals, in the Bay Area. He was a former assistant trainer for the WUSA's San Jose CyberRays in 2003 and previously coached at the college level, spending two seasons at his alma mater as a volunteer assistant from 2006-2007. Montoya currently coaches the Youth MVL Soccer Club, where Stanford players Teresa Noyola and Lindsay Taylor honed their skills for several years.

Montoya began his collegiate playing career at North Carolina State and was an Atlantic Coast Conference First Team selection in 1994. The midfielder received similar honors from the West Coast Conference in 1996 upon transferring to Santa Clara and was a finalist for the Missouri Athletic Club Hermann Trophy. He led the Broncos to the program's first-ever outright WCC Championship and totaled 16 goals and 25 assists during his collegiate career.

Professionally, Montoya was a first round draft pick by the San Jose Clash. Internationally, he was a member of the U.S. U17 National Team and was invited to play with the U.S. Olympic Team in a match against Egypt.

He is married to the former Erin Martinez, a Santa Clara women's soccer alumnus, and has one daughter. The couple resides in Mountain View.

Cardinal in the Olympics and World Cup

Ali Riley

Junior Ali Riley helped the New Zealand Women's National Team qualify for its second all-time World Cup in 2007. Riley, who holds dual citizenship, played for the Football Ferns in the 2007 World Cup and 2008 Beijing Summer Olympics. She scored the first and only international goal for New Zealand in an Olympic tuneup against China on July 17, 2008. At the Olympics, she assisted on the Kiwis' opening goal of the Games in a 2-2 draw against Japan.

Rachel Buehler

Rachel Buehler ('07) competed in her first match for the senior U.S. Women's National Team in March 2008 at the Algarve Cup, and soon after that helped the squad qualify for the 2008 Beijing Summer Olympics. In China at the Olympics, she saw 97 minutes of action in group play, and earned her first career point with the full squad when she assisted on Amy Rodriguez' goal, the second in a 4-0 victory over New Zealand.

Nicole Barnhart

Nicole Barnhart, who played for the Cardinal from 2001-2004, was one of 21 players named to the U.S. Women's National Team roster for the 2007 Women's World Cup. Barnhart also traveled to China with the team for the 2008 Beijing Summer Olympics. She has earned 10 caps, and in her 800 minutes of playing time with the U.S. since 2004, has allowed only one goal for an exceptional 0.11 goals-against-average.

Julie Foudy

A 1993 Stanford graduate, Julie Foudy is a two-time Olympic gold medalist and a former five-year captain of the United States Women's National Team. She was enshrined in the National Soccer Hall of Fame in 2007. Foudy's playing career was highlighted by Olympic gold in 1996 and 2004 and Women's World Cup titles in 1991 and 1999. She played a total of 17 years with the U.S. National team before retiring after the 2004 season with a total of 271 lifetime caps, third in world soccer history. Foudy currently serves as a color analyst for various television broadcasts of major world soccer tournaments and matches involving the United States.

Scholarship Funding

In June of 1934, the "Tiny Buck of the Month Club" was formed to raise the necessary funds from Stanford alumni and friends to pay the tuition costs for capable, worthy and needy student-athletes. As the Club's name implied, membership dues were one dollar per month and the word "tiny" was added to emphasize the modest amount and to honor head football coach, Claude "Tiny" Thornhill. The Club later shortened its name to the "Stanford Buck Club" and revised its initial membership dues requirement.

Until the mid-1970's, there were no athletic scholarships for women, nor was there any fundraising organization devoted to this purpose. To accomplish the task of raising scholarship funds for women, the Cardinal Club was formed in 1977-78.

Under the guidance of the Buck and Cardinal Club leadership, a merged Buck/Cardinal Club was formed in 1987 to raise funds for both men's and women's athletic scholarships. The new volunteer organization was built on the fine Buck and Cardinal Club traditions that served both organizations well.

In 2007, the Stanford Athletic Department provided full operating budgets to all 35 varsity sports. These budgets include all of the components necessary for our programs to compete at the Division I level. Because of this, none of our varsity sports will be required to fundraise for their basic operating budgets effective fiscal year 2008 (September 1, 2007).

These new budgets will be funded in large part by a more robust Buck/Cardinal Club, enabling our head coaches and their staffs to focus their time and energy on coaching and recruiting instead of fundraising for basic operating budgets. Our donors will receive Buck/Cardinal Club benefits commensurate with their generosity.

Under the new Stanford Athletics annual giving program, the Buck/Cardinal Club will not only include its great scholarship tradition, but also assist the department's coaches and staff in providing the resources needed to compete at the highest level of NCAA Division I athletics.

Instead of receiving solicitations from individual sports, donors and friends of Stanford Athletics will now receive a single solicitation from the Buck/Cardinal Club. By giving a gift to the Buck/Cardinal Club, the donor is giving both their favorite sport, and all of Stanford's varsity sports, the budget resources they need. Donors will also have the opportunity to let us know which sports are their favorites at the time of the donation, and sports will keep in touch with donors who specify interest in that specific program.

For more information on the Buck/Cardinal Club and giving to Stanford Athletics, please call (650) 721-9081 or visit www.gostanford.com/giving.

Laird Q. Cagan Stadium Home of Championship Soccer

Laird Q. Cagan Stadium serves as home to the Stanford men's and women's soccer programs. Known as Maloney Field until the 2007 season, it was completed in 1997 and has played host to numerous collegiate, professional and international events, including the Women's World Cup in the summer of 1999, when it was used as a practice field.

Phase I of the renovation was completed in 1997, and included the upgrade of the playing surface and the installation of temporary seating. The 115' X 76' game field is adjacent to practice fields measuring 130' X 130'.

The second phase of the upgrade was completed during the 1998 season. Phase II featured the installation of 80-foot high light poles around the perimeter of the field, making it possible to host night competition in accordance to NCAA standards. Permanent seating was also installed on the west side of the field, increasing the capacity to approximately 2,000 spectators. The bleachers are precast concrete in two sections, with an entry plaza between them. A Daktronics scoreboard and message center was also added to complete the field. Enhanced landscaping and completing of Maloney Plaza link the facility to the rest of the Stanford Sports Complex.

Since the renovation of the facility, Stanford has been the host for numerous NCAA Tournament matches on both the men's and women's sides, including a third round match in 2006, second, third and quarterfinal matches in 2002 and 2001; first, second and third round matches in 2000, first and second round matches in 1998 and 2001, and a first round match in 1999. Temporary bleachers were added, and the games drew significantly large crowds to watch some of the best teams in collegiate soccer compete.

During the 10 seasons the Cardinal have utilized the renovated facility, the Stanford men have posted a 65-23-15 (.631) home record, while the women have compiled a 78-22-11 (.703) mark.

The facility has also been the venue for the U.S. National Teams, a number of international and professional soccer events, the Mexican Women's National Team and the San Jose Earthquakes of Major League Soccer. Both the men's and women's soccer programs are currently working with the Facilities and Development arms of the athletic department, as well as with the Cagan family on a future renovation and seating expansion. Concepts have been created and fundraising for the project is currently underway.

Stanford University at a Glance

On October 1, 1891, the 465 new students who were on hand for opening day ceremonies at Leland Stanford Junior University greeted Leland and Jane Stanford enthusiastically, with a chant they had made up and rehearsed only that morning. Wah-hoo! Wah-hoo! L-S-J-U! Stanford! Its wild and spirited tone symbolized the excitement of this bold adventure. As a pioneer faculty member recalled, "Hope was in every heart, and the presiding spirit of freedom prompted us to dare greatly."

For the Stanford's on that day, the university was the realization of a dream and a fitting tribute to the memory of their only son, who had died of typhoid fever weeks before his sixteenth birthday. Far from the nation's center of culture and unencumbered by tradition or ivy, the new university drew students from all over the country: many from California; some who followed professors hired from other colleges and universities; and some simply seeking adventure in the West. Though there were many difficulties during the first months – housing was inadequate, microscopes and books were late in arriving from the East – the first year foretold of greatness. As Jane Stanford wrote in the summer of 1892, "Even our fondest hopes have been realized."

Ideas of "Practical Education"

Governor and Mrs. Stanford had come from families of modest means and had built their way up through a life of hard work. So it was natural that their first thoughts were to establish an institution where young men and women could "grapple successfully with the practicalities of life." As their thoughts matured, these ideas of "practical education" enlarged to the concept of producing cultured and useful citizens who were well-prepared for professional success.

Nearly 116 years later, the university still enjoys the original 8,180 acres (almost 13 square miles) of grassy fields, eucalyptus groves, and rolling hills that were the Stanford's generous legacy, as well as the Quadrangle of "long corridors with their stately pillars" at the center of campus. It is still true, as the philosopher William James said, during his stint as a visiting professor, that the climate is "so friendly ... that every morning wakes one fresh for new amounts of work."

Current Perspectives

In other ways, the university has changed tremendously on its way to recognition as one of the world's great universities. At the hub of a vital and diverse Bay Area, Stanford is less than hour's drive south of San Francisco and just a few minutes north of the Silicon Valley, an area dotted with computer and high technology firms largely spawned by the university's faculty and graduates. On campus, students and faculty enjoy new libraries, modern laboratories, tremendous sports and recreation facilities, and comfortable residences. Contemporary sculpture, as well as pieces from the Stanford Museum's extensive collection of sculpture by Auguste Rodin, is placed throughout the campus, providing unexpected pleasures at many turns. At the Stanford Medical Center, world-renowned for its research, teaching, and patient care, scientists and physicians are searching for answers to fundamental questions about health and disease. Ninety miles down the coast, at Stanford's Hopkins Marine Station on the Monterey Bay, scientists are working to better understand the mechanisms of evolution, human development, and ecological systems.

The university is organized into seven schools: Earth Sciences, Education, Engineering, the Graduate School of Business, Humanities and Sciences, Law and Medicine. In addition, there are more than 30 interdisciplinary centers, programs, and research laboratories – including the Hoover Institution on War, Revolution and Peace; the Institute for International Studies; the Stanford Linear Accelerator Center; and the Stanford Center for the Study of Families, Children and Youth – where faculty from a wide range of fields bring different perspectives to bear on issues and problems. Stanford's Overseas Studies Program offers students in all fields remarkable opportunities for study abroad, with campuses in Australia, Beijing, Berlin, Cape Town, Florence, Kyoto, Madrid, Moscow, Oxford, Paris, and Santiago.

Stanford People

By any measure, Stanford's faculty – which numbers just over 1,800 – is one of the most distinguished in the nation. As of the June of 2007, the faculty included 18 Nobel Laureates, four Pulitzer Prize winners, 24 MacArthur Fellows, 21 recipients of the National Medal of Science, three National Medley of Technology recipients, 228 members of the National Academy of Arts and Sciences, 135 members of the National Academy of Sciences, 83 National Academy of Engineering members, 29 members of the National Academy of Education, seven Wolf Foundation Prize winners, seven winners of the Koret Foundation Prize and three Presidential Medal of Freedom winners. Yet beyond their array of honors, what truly distinguishes Stanford faculty is their commitment to sharing knowledge with their students. The great majority of professors teach undergraduates both in introductory lecture classes and in small advanced seminars.

Currently 14881 students, of which 6689 are undergraduates, live and study on campus. A little more than 40 percent come from California, but all 50 states and approximately 68 countries are represented as well. Among undergraduates, approximately 55 percent are African American, Asian American, International, Mexican American, Native American, Native Hawaiian or Other Hispanic in ethnicity. Like the faculty, the Stanford student body is distinguished. Approximately 10 students apply to Stanford for every place in the freshman class with 89% of those admitted finishing in the top 10% of their high school class. Ninety-four Stanford students have been named Rhodes Scholars, 74 have been selected Marshall Award winners, and 49 have been chosen Truman Scholars. Nearly 90 percent of graduating seniors plan to attend graduate or professional schools. Stanford students also shine in a tremendous array of activities outside the classroom – from student government to music, theater, and journalism. Through the Haas Center for Public Service, students participate in many community service activities, such as tutoring programs for children in nearby East Palo Alto, the Hunger Project, and the Arbor Free Clinic.

In the athletic arena, Stanford students have enjoyed tremendous success as well. Stanford fields teams in 36 Division I varsity sports (15 men, 20 women, 1 co-ed). Of Stanford's 95 NCAA titles (107 national), 55 have been captured since 1990, by far the most in the nation. Thirty-eight of Stanford's athletes and coaches participated in the 1992 Olympics in Barcelona, 49 competed in Atlanta at the 1996 Games, 34 represented Stanford at the 2000 Games in Sydney, and 43 Stanford associates competed at the 2004 Games in Athens. Intramural and club sports are also popular; over 1,000 students take part in the club sports program, while participation in the intramural program has reached 9,000, with many students active in more than one sport.

Looking Ahead

In her address to the Board of Trustees, in 1904, Jane Stanford said, “. . . Let us not be afraid to outgrow old thoughts and ways, and dare to think on new lines as to the future of the work under our care.”

Her thoughts echo in the words of former Stanford President Gerhard Casper, who has said, “The true university must reinvent itself every day . . . At Stanford, these are days of such reconsideration and fresh support for our fundamental tasks – teaching, learning, and research.”

Stanford captured its unprecedented 14th consecutive U.S. Sports Academy Directors' Cup last year, finishing with a total of 1461 points after placing in 21 postseason championships and earning points in the maximum 10 women's sports and nine men's sports. Stanford boasted an impressive 12 top-five finishes, winning a national championship in women's cross country, placing second in women's volleyball, women's basketball, men's gymnastics and men's golf, third in men's and women's swimming, women's gymnastics, women's water polo and fifth in women's indoor track and field and women's tennis. Stanford also finished seventh in men's indoor track, eighth in fencing, ninth in women's soccer, softball and men's basketball, 17th in men's tennis and 19th in men's cross country and wrestling.

Fall

Stanford finished fall competition with 315 points, good for third place in the Division I Sports Academy Directors' Cup standings behind California (370) and USC (343). The Cardinal scored points in five of nine fall sports, led by a strong showing by the women's cross country team, which captured its third straight NCAA championship. The women's volleyball team made another appearance in the NCAA title match, while the women's field hockey (9th), women's soccer (NCAA third round) and men's cross country teams (19th NAAs) all enjoyed strong fall showings.

Winter

Stanford took control of the Directors' Cup standings with a strong showing in the winter, as 10 Cardinal teams accounted for 767 points. Stanford women's basketball team advanced to the championship game of the NCAA Tournament while the Cardinal men's and women's gymnastics team finished second and third, respectively, at the NCAA Championships. Stanford finished third in men's and women's swimming, fifth in women's indoor track and field, seventh in men's indoor track and field, eighth in fencing, ninth in men's basketball and 19th in wrestling.

Spring

Stanford teams followed up their strong winter performances with an impressive spring, netting 468.00 points. The Stanford women's water polo team placed third at the NCAA Championships while the men's golf team and women's tennis team finished second and fifth, respectively, at their NCAA Championship events. Stanford also placed ninth in women's track and field, 17th in men's tennis and 25th in women's golf.

Directors' Cup Overview

The Sports Academy Directors' Cup was developed as a joint effort between the National Collegiate Association of Collegiate Directors of Athletics (NACDA) and the USA Today in 1993-94 in an effort to honor universities that strive for success in all of their sports programs. The program was expanded in 1995-96 to include Division II, III and the NAIA. Each institution is awarded points based on an institutions finish in 20 sports – 10 each for men and women.

NCAA championships are commonplace at Stanford University, as Cardinal teams have won national titles at an unprecedented rate, including a national-best 79 since 1980 and 56 since 1990. Stanford has won at least one NCAA championship for 32 consecutive years and has won four national titles in a single season nine times.

Nine different Stanford teams have won at least five national titles, including men's tennis (18), women's tennis (16), men's water polo (11), women's swimming and diving (9), men's swimming and diving (8), men's golf (8), women's volleyball (6), synchronized swimming (6) and women's cross country (5). A total of 19 Stanford teams have won at least one national championship.

Stanford teams have won a total of 109 national championships. In NCAA competition, Cardinal teams have won 95 team titles, including 58 men's championships and an NCAA-best 37 women's titles.

Department of Athletics, Physical Education, and Recreation Principles That Guide Us

We Will Teach

- By encouraging our student-athletes to capture all the joy, power and extraordinary personal growth that comes to those who compete and support athletic excellence.
- By hiring and retaining the best coaches and staff members available and arming them with the tools to achieve at the highest level.
- By fostering and nurturing a coaching, physical education and recreation staff that is committed to teaching with integrity & ambition and that performs in a manner which is consistent with the academic priorities of Stanford University.
- By recognizing the need to work as a team while valuing each individual's unique characteristics and abilities.
- By committing ourselves to the personal development and well being of our student-athletes and staff. Those who participate at all levels will learn the benefits of teamwork, discipline, goal setting, physical fitness, healthy lifestyles, character development, self confidence, sportsmanship, and an appreciation for lifelong learning.

We Will Lead

- By being the model of success, of universal opportunity, and of unwavering commitment to the ideal of the scholar-athlete.
- By operating with integrity as we follow the spirit and the letter of each rule. Integrity will be displayed in our policies, performances and programs.
- By continuing our long history of conference and national prominence through a commitment to cutting edge involvement in athletic issues.

We Will Win

- By maximizing our effort in every competition, on every team and in every setting where skill, determination and hard work combine to achieve singularly successful results.
- By having an uncompromising commitment to Conference and National championships and by providing each student-athlete with the tools necessary to be successful at the highest levels of both academic and athletic performance.
- By creating a commitment to a university-wide wellness culture that will allow Stanford students, faculty and staff to maximize their health and fitness opportunities throughout their lives.

We Will Serve

- By respecting, honoring and responding to the needs of our student-athletes, coaches, colleagues, advocates and members of our larger community.
- By encouraging innovation and creativity. We will harness technology to extend our reach and to interface with our various internal and external constituencies.
- Through fiscal responsibility in all elements of departmental operations.
- By advancing outreach as a fundamental component of the department, we will strive to enhance the overall mission of the University through competitive excellence, effective outreach and an on-going commitment to customer service.
- By utilizing the department resources and physical facilities to serve the campus community, our alumni and our supporters throughout the world.
- By valuing our heritage, and in doing so we commit ourselves to championship caliber athletic achievement and the on-going enhancement of the traditions of Stanford Athletics, including leadership, individual and team achievement & intense pride and loyalty.

Department of Athletics, Physical Education, and Recreation

Mission Statement

From its founding in 1891, Stanford University's leaders have believed that physical activity is valuable for its own sake and that vigorous exercise is complementary to the educational purposes of the university. Within this context for human development, it is the mission of Stanford's Department of Athletics, Physical Education and Recreation to offer a wide range of high quality programs which will encourage and facilitate all participants to realize opportunities for championship athletic participation, physical fitness, health and well being.

BOB BOWLSBY

THE JAQUISH & KENNINGER
DIRECTOR OF ATHLETICS

One of the most respected and admired athletic administrators in the nation, Bob Bowlsby enters his third full year as the Jaquish & Kenninger Director of Athletics at Stanford University, a position he was appointed to on April 25, 2006 after spending 15 years at the helm of the University of Iowa's athletic program. In his initial two years in the position, Stanford has continued its well-earned reputation of fielding the most successful and wide-ranging Division I-A athletic programs in the nation.

As Stanford's sixth athletic director, Bowlsby succeeds Ted Leland (1991-2005), Andy Geiger (1979-90), Joe Ruetz (1972-78), Chuck Taylor (1963-71) and Al Masters (1925-63). Bowlsby directs a department that includes 35 intercollegiate varsity teams – 15 men's, 19 women's and one coed – plus the physical education department, intramurals, club sports, open recreation and the Stanford Golf Course. The department has an annual budget of approximately $75 million and a staff of over 225.

"Bob Bowlsby represents the best professional and personal values when it comes to student-athletes," said Stanford University Provost John Etchemendy. "He understands that the success of an athletics program is not simply measured in wins and losses, but in the academic achievements and character of the young women and men who work so hard on the field and in the classroom."

Under his administrative guidance, Stanford claimed its unprecedented 14th straight U.S. Sports Academy Directors' Cup last year, emblematic of the top overall program in the country. Sixteen Stanford teams boasted Top 10 finishes, winning national championships in women's cross country and synchronized swimming. In addition, the women's volleyball, women's basketball and men's golf teams enjoyed runner-up NCAA Tournament finishes in their respective sports, while the men's basketball team advanced to the Sweet 16 of the NCAA Tournament. Eight Stanford teams claimed conference championships.

Stanford's student-athletes were also highly-decorated last season. Two players – Foluke Akinradewo (women's volleyball) and Candice Wiggins (women's basketball) – earned national player of the year honors while nine student-athletes earned conference player of the year marks. In addition, three student-athletes – Hilary Barte (women's tennis), Alex Clayton (men's tennis) and Alix Klineman (women's volleyball) – earned national freshmen of the year accolades.

Stanford student-athletes continue to excel in the classroom, as 14 Cardinal student-athletes earned academic All-America status during the 2007-08 season. Six Stanford student-athletes – Neftalem Araia (cross country), Russell Brown (track and field), Rachel Buehler (women's soccer), Tanner Gardner (wrestling), Rob Grube (men's golf) and Arianna Lambie (women's cross country) – were named Pac-10 Scholar Athletes of the Year.

Ten Stanford student-athletes – Araia, Buehler, Dylan Carney (men's gymnastics), Michael Garcia (men's track and field), Gardner, Sandy Hohener (men's water polo), Graeme Hoste (men's track and field), Josh Hustedt (track and field), Lambie and Laura Shane (lacrosse) – were named NCAA Postgraduate Scholars. In addition, Carney was the recipient of the Walter Byers Postgraduate Scholarship, the highest academic honor in intercollegiate athletics.

Bowlsby continues to leave his mark in Stanford's coaching circles. Under first-year head coach Jim Harbaugh, the Stanford football team was on of the most improved squads in the Pac-10 Conference last season, as evident of wins over top-ranked (USA Today) USC and defending Pac-10 Conference co-champion Cal. Last spring, Bowlsby ushered in a new era of Stanford basketball with the hiring of head coach Johnny Dawkins.

Throughout his career, Bowlsby has emerged as a national leader in intercollegiate and amateur athletics. He was named in February, 2007, to the United States Olympic Committee Board of Directors.

He has previously served as President of the NCAA Division I-A Athletic Directors' Association (2002-03), Chair of the NCAA Division I Men's Basketball Committee for two years (2003-05) and a committee member for five years, Chair of the Big Ten Administrator's Council (2002-04) and Chair of the NCAA Management Council.

Bowlsby was appointed by President George Bush as a member of the Commission on Opportunities in Athletics in 2002-03. The committee was led by U.S. Secretary of Education Rod Paige.

Bowlsby was elected chair of the NCAA Olympic Sports Liaison Committee and represented the NCAA as one of two voting members on the United States Olympic Committee Board of Directors. He served as a member of the NCAA/ U.S. Olympic Committee Task Force chaired by Cedric Dempsey and George Steinbrenner.

In addition, Bowlsby served as chair of the NCAA Wrestling Committee and has served on NCAA committees on Financial Aid and Amateurism, the Special Committee to Review Amateurism Issues and the Special Committee to Review Financial Conditions in Athletics.

Bowlsby has also served as an Executive Committee member with both the National Association of Collegiate Directors of Athletics and the Division I-A Athletic Directors Association and served as President of the I-A organization for two years.

The National Association of Collegiate Directors of Athletics (NACDA) named Bowlsby in 2001-02 as Central Region Athletic Director of the Year and Sports Business Journal selected him from the four regional award winners as the National Athletics Director of the Year. The award highlights the efforts of the athletic directors for their commitment and positive contributions to campuses and their surrounding communities.

As the chief administrator for Iowa's athletic department from 1991-2006, Bowlsby earned a reputation as one of the most admired, energetic and ambitious athletic administrators in the nation. Bowlsby guided and supervised the merger of the Hawkeye's women's and men's athletics departments while enabling Iowa to maintain its standing as one of the most visible and successful Division I athletic programs.

Under his leadership, Iowa enjoyed unprecedented success and growth in the area of fund raising and facilities. Bowlsby and the UI Development staff put in place $25 million in endowments to help support Hawkeye student-athlete scholarship aid. In addition, he managed the planning and construction of $120 million in facility projects on campus, including an $87 million renovation to Kinnick Stadium.

A native of Waterloo, Iowa, Bowlsby became Iowa's 10th Athletic Director in June, 1991, after serving in the same role at the University of Northern Iowa since 1984. Bowlsby earned his bachelor's degree from Moorhead State University (Minnesota) in 1975 and his master's degree from the University of Iowa in 1978. He and his wife, Candice, have four children: Lisa, Matt, Rachel and Kyle.
