UPPERCLASSMEN WILL LEAD AN ENERGETIC AND COMMITTED TEAM

It's a new year on The Farm as the 2005 Stanford women's softball team prepares for the season ahead. Head coach John Rittman, now in his ninth year at the helm of the program, looks forward to a challenging pre-conference schedule and always tough, Pac-10 schedule to follow. This year's squad has the potential for great things and will be presented with many opportunities to achieve it along the way. The Cardinal return all but two starters from the 2004 team that finished tied for third at the Women's College World Series in Oklahoma City, Oklahoma. Stanford ended up fourth in the final NFCA Coaches Poll while three student-athletes received All-America honors – pitcher Dana Sorensen, catcher Jessica Allister and shortstop Lauren Lappin.

The Cardinal lost two starters from the 2004 squad – Sorensen and Allister. Sorensen left Stanford as the top pitcher the program has ever seen. She holds the career and single season wins and strikeouts records and was a two-time All-American. Allister was a four year starter as a catcher whose name can be found in the record books in career homeruns and RBI. "We lost two outstanding players to graduation last year," noted Rittman, "both of them made significant contributions to our programs success."

Stanford will look to its upperclassmen to lead an energetic and committed team. The Cardinal gains the talents of six newcomers including Anna Beardman, who comes in with a wealth of the experience on the junior national level. The expectations of the squad are high and this year is no different. The team worked hard in the off-season to put themselves in a position to succeed and eye an eighth consecutive postseason trip in 2005. "Stanford Softball is looking for our six seniors to provide a leadership role on the team," Rittman said. "We have a team that plays this game with a great passion."

Stanford will open in February with its usual tough pre-conference schedule, hosting two tournaments before hitting the road and traveling to Tampa, Florida (USF Tournament). The Cardinal will host another tournament at Stanford then travel to Fullerton, Calif. (Worth Invitational). Two more home tournaments and a doubleheader with Fresno State are on the docket before they start league play April 1.

"We play one of the toughest schedules in the country and this year is no different," said Rittman. "This level of competition will prepare us for our extremely tough conference schedule and a shot at a National Championship. We came very close last year and the lessons learned will make us a better team this year. Everyone in our program is working extremely hard and the level of commitment and focus on this team is outstanding. The expectation level of this program is very high. We expect to succeed and have a winning program. This year is no different. We expect to go to the post season, go to the Women's College World Series and put ourselves in a position to win a championship."

With the loss of senior Dana Sorensen in the circle, the Cardinal will rely on a young pitching staff led by junior Laura Severson (Frankfort, IL). Severson went 13-8 during her sophomore campaign with a 2.30 ERA. She collected 113 strikeouts in 140 innings of work while posting 11 complete games and five shutouts. Also returning to the staff is sophomore Danika Dukes (Elverta, CA), who saw limited action in 2003. Dukes recorded a 2-0 record with a 2.92 ERA in 11 appearances for Stanford. Joining Stanford this season are freshmen Laura Nydam (La Canada, CA) and Becky McCullough (Moraga, CA).

"Our pitching staff is headed by Coach Trisha Dean who has done an outstanding job with all of our pitchers," Rittman noted. "She has done a great job with our upperclassmen, but has also made our two freshman better. We're looking for everyone on our staff to step up and produce big results. Laura earned a significant role in the circle last year and gave us a lot of big wins. Laura is an extremely competitive player who has improved all aspects of her game the last two and a half years. Danika matured as a pitcher last year and we look for her role to increase on this year's staff.

We have two outstanding pitchers joining our program this year, Becky McCullough and Lauren Nydam," continued Rittman. "Both of these pitchers are extremely talented and will provide a significant role to our teams success. We're looking for both of them to contribute immediately."

With the departure of senior Jessica Allister behind the plate, three athletes will vie for time. Senior Leah Nelson (Oakland, CA), senior redshirt Michelle Thiry (Renton, WA), along with freshman Erin Howe (Missouri City, TX) will all figure into the mix. Nelson saw action in 64 games last year, starting in 62. She hit .280 on the season with five doubles and six homeruns. She led the team with three sacrifice flies. Thiry saw action in 48 games in '04 collecting 11 hits and 13 RBI. "We have three outstanding catchers in our program and four if you count our short stop Lauren Lappin," Rittman said. "All three will most likely see action behind the plate. We're looking for someone to step up and provide leadership at this position. All three are very capable and have a lot of ability behind the plate."

Four players are possibilities at first base for the Cardinal in 2005 – Leah Nelson, along with newcomers Erin Howe, Becky McCullough and Michelle Smith (Agoura Hills, CA). "We have a number of options at first base," noted Rittman. "Having the options will allow us to play whomever is hitting the ball most consistently."

At second base, look for junior Megan Bordelon (Laguna Niguel, CA), sophomore Lindsay Key (Galveston, TX) and freshman Tricia Aggabao (Walnut, CA) to compete for playing time. Bordelon saw time in 21 games last year while Key made appearances in 38 with 29 starts. Key notched 12 hits in 75 at bats with three doubles. "Like the other infield positions we have a lot of options at second base," said Rittman. "Who ever is playing the most consistently both offensively and defensively will get the nod."

Senior Elizabeth Bendig (Santa Ana, CA), along with Tricia Aggabao and Michelle Smith will battle for the hot corner at third base. Bendig started in 56 of 60 games for the Cardinal in 2004, hitting at a .242 clip with 37 hits. She notched eight RBI and had five runs scored. "We have three players capable of playing third base and all three will vie for the position," Rittman said. "Again a lot will depend on who is playing the best both offensively and defensively."

Anchoring the Stanford infield at shortstop will be junior All-American Lauren Lappin (Anaheim, CA). Lappin, who was an alternate on the U.S. Olympic Team that won gold in Athens, led the squad with a .358 average in '04. She recorded 73 hits, 43 RBI, 44 runs scored and a team-leading 13 doubles. She played brilliantly at the WCWS last season, picking up all-tournament honors in Oklahoma City. Backing up Lappin at this position will be Lindsay Key. "Lauren is one of the best all-around athletes in the country," noted Rittman. "She has all the tools necessary to leave a major impact on this game. We're looking for Laura to provide leadership for our program."

Seven Stanford athletes will compete for time in the outfield in 2005. Led by junior Catalina Morris (Sonoita, AZ), The Cardinal have lots of options who can play multiple positions in the outfield. She will be joined by senior red shirt Katherine Hoffman (Kansas City, MO), senior Heather Shook (Whittier, CA), senior Meghan Sickler (Houston, TX), junior Shoney Hixson (Oklahoma City, OK), sophomore Jackie Rinehart (Reno, NV) and freshman Anna Beardman (Perris, CA). Morris hit .306 in 2004 with a school record six triples in 68 games played. She tallied 63 hits and a team-leading 51 runs. Morris added 11 doubles and seven homeruns on the year. Hoffman, started 64 of 68 games last season with a .205 average at the plate. She notched 33 hits, 22 runs scored and led the squad with 18 stolen bases. Shook was hampered by an early season hand injury but managed 13 hits and 10 runs scored in '04. Sickler hit .247 in 65 starts for the Cardinal with a .247 average. She recorded 43 hits and 25 RBI as well. Hixson saw action in 49 games last season as a pinch runner, picking up 11 runs scored and going 3-for-4 in stolen bases. Rinehart, started all 68 games as a freshman, hitting .356 with a team-leading 80 hits. She added 40 runs scored and 13 stolen bases as well. "We have a lot of options in the outfield," said Rittman. "All three starters return, however all of our outfielders are capable of starting, which will make our team stronger and give us more options."

In the designated player position, Stanford has several candidates that could fill that role.

The 2005 Stanford Softball team will have an outstanding mix of power, speed, the ability to play the short game, pitching and defense. The Cardinal have more depth than they have ever had in the history of the program and have the ability to be a very special team.

John Rittman

Head Coach
Ninth Season

John Rittman begins his ninth season at the helm of the Stanford women's softball program after being named head coach on July 12, 1996. In just eight years on The Farm, Rittman has brought the Stanford softball program from a non-scholarship club-level program to a fully-funded championship contender.

Rittman served as the assistant coach for the 2004 USA Olympic Team that competed in Athens, Greece, bringing home a gold medal. He was also a part of the '03 team that won a gold medal at the Pan American Games in Santo Domingo, Dominican Republic as well as a gold at the U.S. Cup. Rittman was also the assistant coach for the 2002 USA National Softball Team won the 2002 US Cup, Canada Cup, Japan Cup and the World Championships. In 2001 Rittman coached the USA Red Team that won the gold medal at the US Cup and also competed in the Canada Cup and USA Softball Shootout.

Under Rittman, the Cardinal have recorded eight consecutive 40-win seasons and this year marked their seventh-straight postseason appearance. Rittman has accumulated a 345-169-2 overall mark.

The 2004 campaign saw the Cardinal's return to the Women's College World Series and a 49-19 overall record. Stanford tied for third at the CWS in their second trip to Oklahoma City, Okla. The 2003 squad ended the season ranked fourth nationally and posted their best Pac-10 finish in the program's history, tying for second. Senior Dana Sorensen was honored as a first-team All-American while senior Jessica Allister and sophomore Lauren Lappin were second-team All-America selections. For his efforts, Rittman was tabbed Pac-10 Coach of the Year for the second time in his career.

In 2003, Rittman's team posted a 41-26 record and a sixth consecutive berth in the NCAA Regional Championships. Last season, freshman Catalina Morris was named a Third-Team All-American by the National Fastpitch Coaches Association.

Rittman's 2002 squad finished 44-20 overall and earned a sixth-place finish in the Pac-10 Conference. On May 3, 2002, Rittman picked up his 250th career victory in Stanford's 9-1 win over Arizona State. Stanford also achieved the highest ranking in program history, a No. 2 standing in the NFCA/USA Today Poll. The 2002 team produced two All-Americans in Jessica Mendoza and Sarah Beeson. Mendoza made history becoming the program's first four-time First-Team All-American.

The 2001 season was the most impressive campaign during Rittman's tenure, as the Cardinal finished with its best single-season overall record at 54-16-1. After going 4-1 on its way to winning the NCAA Regional championship on its home field, the Cardinal made its first appearance in the College World Series and finished with a 2-2 mark. The Cardinal outscored its opponents 290-104 on the year and posted a school record 33 shutouts in 71 games. Rittman was named Pac-10 co-Coach of the Year, while three Stanford athletes were awarded First Team All-America status (Sarah Beeson, Jessica Mendoza, Dana Sorensen)- the first time Stanford has had multiple first-team selections in the same year.

In 2000, the Cardinal went 45-18 overall and earned a third-straight berth in the NCAA tournament. Despite the fact that the Cardinal had never been nationally ranked prior to the 1998 season, Stanford spent every week of 2000 in the top 25, and set a single-season record with its 45 victories. Sophomore Jessica Mendoza was selected as the Pac-10 Player of the Year selection 2000. Mendoza also made history by becoming the first back-to-back first-team All-Pac-10 selection.

In 1999, the Cardinal went 40-25 overall and earned its second-straight trip to the NCAA tournament. Rittman's teams broke 34 individual and team school records. Among them were the first three perfect games in school history, the first-ever win over Arizona, and the program's initial first-team All-American, Jessica Mendoza.

In 1998, Rittman presided over Stanford softball's coming-out party. The Cardinal posted a 41-18 record and earned the program's first NCAA appearance, where the squad advanced to the regional championship game. Stanford finished third in the Pac-10, while consistently appearing in the Top-25 of the NFCA Coaches Poll, where it finished ranked 12th in country. Three Cardinal players were named third-team All-Americans, becoming the first All-Americans in school history. Numerous others earned all-region, all-Pac-10 and all-tournament honors. For his efforts, Rittman was named the 1998 NCAA Pacific Region Coach of the Year.

In his first season at Stanford, Rittman led Stanford to its first-ever 30-win season, posting a 30-27-1 record. Although Stanford fell just short of earning an NCAA berth, the Cardinal received postseason consideration following a solid performance down the stretch. Over the course of the 1997 season, Rittman's squad recorded nine wins over ranked opponents, including four over teams ranked in the top 10. Stanford defeated conference and national powerhouses UCLA and Washington for the first time in school history. The Cardinal also defeated two ranked squads en route to a second-place finish at the Campbell/Cartier Softball Classic. Two of Rittman's players earned Pac-10 All-Conference recognition, while two individuals were named to the All-Pacific Region team.

Prior to being named head coach at Stanford, Rittman spent four seasons as the assistant coach at Washington. With the Huskies, he was responsible for teaching the fundamentals of hitting as well as defensive play. In just four seasons, the Husky team earned a No. 1 national ranking, the 1996 Pac-10 Championship, Title, three NCAA Tournament appearances and a second-place finish in its first College World Series appearance. Washington became the first team since Texas A&M (1983) to advance to the championship game in its first appearance at the CWS.

Prior to his appointment at Washington, Rittman spent two seasons as an assistant at Minnesota. During his second year, the Gophers won the Big Ten Conference with a 20-4 league record. The team batting average jumped from .235 to .269 and the Gophers set team and individual records in almost every offensive category. The Minnesota squad also led the nation in hits and total bases en route to a No. 15 ranking. Rittman also helped produce two All-Americans.

Rittman had a three-year stay as assistant coach at Oregon from 1988-90. While with Oregon, the Ducks played in the 1989 College World Series. During Rittman's stay, the Ducks set several team and individual offensive records while Rittman again saw one of his pupils earn All-America recognition.

Rittman graduated from New Mexico State with a degree in journalism in 1986. He was a three-year letterwinner in baseball as an outfielder at NMSU after transferring from Yavapai Junior College in Prescott, Ariz. Rittman played two years of semi-pro baseball and fast-pitch softball after his collegiate career.

Rittman and his wife Lorie, a former softball player at Oklahoma, are the parents of Justin Riley, born Oct. 17, 1995, and Jacob Dean, born Sept. 15, 1999.

Trisha Dean

Assistant Coach

Trisha Dean begins her second season on The Farm as an assistant coach. She comes to Stanford after spending two seasons as head softball coach at Saint Mary's College in Moraga, Calif. Dean's squad finished the 2003 campaign with a 25-27 record and a .481 winning percentage, the highest in school history.

"Trisha Dean did an outstanding job working with our pitching staff and defense last year," said head coach John Rittman. "She brings a lot of enthusiasm and energy to our coaching staff and has an amazing work ethic."

Prior to her stint at the Gail's helm, Dean served as an assistant at SMC from 1999-2000, working with pitchers and infielders.

Dean ranked as one of Saint Mary's top softball student-athletes in school history while competing at the college level. She is the only female athlete in SMC history to have her number retired (jersey No. 9). Dean holds career records in batting average (.364), hits (230) and doubles (62) at Saint Mary's. In 1998, Dean led the nation with 25 doubles and set a Gail single-season batting average record (.435).

Dean, a Fremont, Calif., native, graduated from SMC in 1999 with a bachelor's degree in politics.

Kira Ching

Assistant Coach

Kira Ching joins the Stanford athletics staff as a second-year assistant softball coach after a successful collegiate career with the Cardinal squad. Ching works primarily with the infielders, while also serving as the first base coach and assisting with all other aspects of the program.

During her four-year tenure on the Farm, Ching recorded 44 doubles, 10 triples, 24 home runs and 152 RBI for a .281 career batting average. She started 232-of-233 games while helping her team to four-straight appearances in the NCAA Regional Championships and a berth into the 2001 NCAA Women's College World Series. During her senior season in 2003, Ching led Stanford in doubles (14), triples (4), total plate appearances (225) and fielding double plays (7) last season.

Ching, a San Lorenzo, Calif., native graduated with a bachelor's degree in American Studies from Stanford in 2003 and is currently working toward a Master's degree in education.

Stanford Softball Home Run Club

The HRC is growing in size every year and is a huge part of our softball program. We appreciate any donation you may send. This important group of people provides the softball team with financial support.

Once you have donated to the HRC, as a member you will receive four issues of the HRC newsletter. This newsletter includes statistical information along with game by game highlights of tournaments and games. You will be invited to the annual HRC barbeque and other special events.

Stanford's Scholarship Funding

Two sources provide scholarship funds for Stanford's student-athletes: the Athletic Department's scholarship endowment and the Buck/Cardinal Club.

The Buck/Cardinal Club

Nearly $3 million is raised annually in scholarship funds through the gift of the Club's 6,000 members. Over 250 volunteers assist the Athletic Department in its annual fund raising efforts.

Endowed Scholarships

Endowed scholarships are large sums of money that have been invested in the University's endowment and generate significant interest income each year. A portion of the income is spent on student aid and the remainder is reinvested in the principal.

The following scholarships, named for the donor or for someone the donor wishes to honor, provide full or partial grants-in-aid to members of the 2004 women's softball team:

- The Anne T. and Robert M. Bass Family Scholarship
- The Judy and Bill Dailey Scholarship
- The Reverend Joan Butler Ford Athletic Scholarship
- The John C. and Laura Grant Gamble Athletic Scholarship
- The John and Marian Gilbert Family Scholarship
- The W. Ruel and Jane Johnson Scholarship
- The Sara and Bill Kimball Endowed Athletic Scholarship
- The David M. and Marcus A. Krupp, M.D. Scholarship
- The Roger M. Laverty Jr. Scholarship II
- The Clarke and Elizabeth Nelson Scholarship
- The Forrest N. and Patricia K. Shumway Scholarship
- The Diane and Karl Wustrack Athletic Scholarship

The Campaign for Undergraduate Education at Stanford (CUE)

Stanford provides unparalleled opportunities for undergraduates. To enable students to take full advantage of all the university offers, Stanford launched a five-year, one billion dollar campaign in October 2000. The funds will be used exclusively for undergraduate education. To learn more about the campaign, please visit <http://cue.stanford.edu>

I always knew that my time at Stanford, particularly as part of the softball program, would be one of the best times of my life, but I don't think I began to completely understand the flood of benefits it would also bring until graduating.

While I was at Stanford, I enjoyed and appreciated several different aspects of the school: the incredible people in the dorms and in the classroom, the renowned professors, the ideal weather and beautiful campus, the opportunity to spend every day with my best friends on the field, the close-knit athletic community, planting the seeds to friendships that will last a lifetime, our first victories over UCLA, Arizona and Washington, and being able to help build a growing, successful Top 10 collegiate softball program, just to name a few.

Now, as a Marketing Manager at IBM, I draw on my experiences at Stanford every day. I'm coming to realize that the characteristics I acquired on the field and in class – communication skills, work ethic, perseverance, ability to take and apply constructive criticism, and knowing how to be a team player – are also the qualities that will contribute not only to a successful career, but also to successful relationships throughout life, which is most important to me. My husband, Derek, and I were married in September of 2002, and are living in San Francisco. Before moving to San Francisco, I was helping instruct the catchers at Santa Clara University, where former-Cardinal Marcy Crouch is the Head Softball Coach.

Having spent four years at a university that excels in both academics and athletics is an incredible blessing. The experiences and memories I took with me are irreplaceable, and I'm sure that every year will bring new appreciation for the time I was fortunate enough to spend at Stanford.

Darsi L Rueda – Class of 1991

Playing Stanford softball was one of the highlights of my Stanford experience. At the time (1989-1991) we were a club team trying to transition to varsity. We played at Roble Field: no fence, no dugouts, splintery bleachers for our (few) fans. We lined the field ourselves before games, and our team manager scheduled the umpires. I distinctly remember the day we weeded the infield after practice! But the desire and teamwork that we had couldn't have been of higher quality. And the friendships I made will last a lifetime.

Senior year we started playing a partial PAC-10 schedule. We went on road trips, in vans, to southern California and Oregon. The highlight of my career was getting a hit off of Cal's Michelle Granger! I'm proud to be part of the Stanford softball tradition, and even prouder when I see what the program has become.

Since graduating, I've been working for the Stanford University Libraries. Currently, I'm a programmer/analyst for the Systems Group.

Lauren Gellman – Class of 2000

Being a Stanford Student-Athlete is an experience comparable to none. It is a privilege experienced by few, but cherished by all who accept the challenge. For me, it meant that I had 18 close friends, teammates, before even stepping foot on campus. It meant being at the top of my game, both in the classroom, and on the softball field. It meant competing every day at the highest level imaginable, and then pushing myself to be even better. Being a part of the varsity softball program was an opportunity to be a part of Stanford history. It meant building a program from its infancy, to one competing at the national level. Coach Rittman used to tell us, "You will never work harder with the same group of individuals, for the same common goal, as you will with your teammates, on this team." I didn't understand how right he was until I graduated, and realized how special and rare my experience had truly been. The Stanford Varsity Softball program helped me to grow and become the individual I am...proud, determined and dedicated... and prepared to approach each day with enthusiasm and confidence.

Stanford Athletics Home of Champions

11-time NCAA champion Tara Kirk was named the Honda Broderick Award winner as the nation's top collegiate women's athlete in 2003-04.

“Home of Champions.” Those are the bywords for the Stanford University Athletic Department.

And for good reason. No athletic department in the country can boast of the kind of success that Stanford has accomplished since the 1980s. NCAA team championships. NCAA individual champions. Olympic medalists. Stanford University athletes have been all over the world capturing championships.

The statistics speak for themselves: Stanford University has won 71 NCAA team championships since 1980, the most in the nation; Cardinal athletes have won 48 NCAA championships since 1990 – again the most in the nation. Stanford has brought home 26 NCAA championship trophies the past seven years, including an unprecedented six NCAA team titles in 1996-97. In 1991-92, Stanford athletes took home 29 individual NCAA titles – an NCAA record. Cardinal athletes won 21 individual championships during the 1992-93 season, the second most in history.

Even more impressive is Stanford's string of 10 consecutive United States Sports Academy Directors' Cup titles (1995-04). The award honors the nation's top overall athletic program and with nine straight #1 finishes, it's no wonder Stanford is considered the dominant athletic program in the nation.

Stanford captured its 10th straight Directors' Cup in 2003-04 with 1337.25 points, winning the honor by 111 points over second place Michigan.

The Cardinal won a total of three NCAA team crowns with championships in men's and women's cross country and women's tennis and had top-five finishes in men's water polo, women's basketball, men's swimming, women's swimming, men's gymnastics, women's gymnastics, synchronized swimming, softball, men's tennis and women's water polo.

A total of 13 Stanford teams finished among the nation's Top Five and 21 among the Top 10. The Cardinal also picked up eight individual NCAA titles and 11 team conference championships.

Tiger Woods is one of the PGA's most successful golfers with victories in all four Major events.

Stanford has now won at least one NCAA team championship for 27 straight years. Cardinal teams have also won four or more NCAA team titles in a single year nine times, an NCAA best.

All totaled, Stanford has won 99 collegiate team titles (89 NCAA championships) and 386 NCAA individual titles. Cardinal women have won an NCAA-best 32 team championships while men's teams have captured 57 NCAA team titles, third best in the nation. Overall, Stanford's 89 NCAA team championships rank second in the nation.

In the last 11 years (since 1993-94), Stanford has claimed 39 national team championships and 35 NCAA team titles – the best in the country.

During the 2002-03 campaign, Stanford teams captured two NCAA team championships, 14 conference titles and had 24 teams finish among the nation's top-10 as it won its ninth straight Directors' Cup by a wide margin over Texas.

Stanford was equally impressive in 2001-02, winning four NCAA team championships and the Directors' Cup once again. The Cardinal took home national titles in women's volleyball, men's water polo, women's water polo and women's tennis, placed 11 teams in the top-five and 21 in the top-10.

In 1999-2000, Stanford's football team won the Pacific-10 Conference championship and played in the Rose Bowl for the first time in 28 years while the men's basketball team earned a No. 1 seed in the NCAA Tournament, tied for the conference title, finished 27-4 overall and held the nation's No. 1 ranking during the season. The Cardinal baseball team followed by sharing the Pac-10 crown and advancing to the College World Series, marking the first time in history that a school won Pac-10 championships in football, men's basketball and baseball in the same year.

Stanford has also enjoyed unequalled success in Olympic competition.

At the 2000 Summer Games in Sydney, Australia, Stanford University was represented by a total of 34 athletes and coaches. The Cardinal contingent won a total of 10 medals – four gold, three silver and three bronze.

At the 1996 Games in Atlanta, Stanford again placed 49 coaches and athletes on Olympic Teams, including three head United States Olympic coaches (Tara VanDerveer, women's basketball; Richard Quick, women's swimming; Skip Kenney, men's swimming). Stanford athletes accounted for 16 gold medals, one silver and one bronze in Atlanta.

At the 1992 Games in Barcelona, Cardinal athletes earned 19 medals – 10 gold, four silver and five bronze. If Stanford were a country, it would've placed 13th in the world with its 19 medals and ninth with 10 golds. Thirty-eight Stanford-affiliated athletes and coaches participated in Barcelona while 41 members of the Cardinal family took part in the 1988 Olympic Games in Seoul, Korea.

National titles have become quite commonplace in the Stanford Athletic Department. In 1996-97, Cardinal teams set an NCAA record by winning six NCAA team championships in a single academic year: men's and women's cross country, men's and women's volleyball and men's and women's tennis. Nine other teams finished in the Top Four nationally, including second place finishes in women's swimming, men's swimming, men's water polo and women's synchronized swimming. Stanford also posted third place finishes in women's basketball, baseball and fencing, as well as fourth place finishes in women's golf and women's water polo.

The 1996-97 school year also saw the Cardinal football team advance to the Sun Bowl, the 18th bowl game in school history, the women's basketball team return to the Final Four, the baseball team qualify for the College World Series and the men's basketball team advance to the Sweet Sixteen of the NCAA Tournament for the first time since it won the 1942 NCAA title.

The following year (1997-98) Stanford won six national team titles in men's cross country, women's volleyball, men's swimming, women's swimming and men's tennis along with a U.S. Collegiate title in synchronized swimming. Also, 14 teams finished among the nation's Top Five, 19 in the Top 10 and 22 in the Top 20. Other teams finishing among the Top Five nationally included men's basketball, which made its first Final Four appearance in 56 years, women's tennis, men's water polo, women's water polo and fencing.

During the 1998-99 campaign, Stanford won one NCAA team title in women's tennis and one U.S. Collegiate Championship in synchronized swimming while seven teams placed second in the nation. During the 1999-2000 season, Stanford won two NCAA team championships (men's tennis, men's track and field) and placed second nationally in six other sports. The 2000-01 campaign saw the Cardinal win one NCAA championship (women's tennis) and have 15 other teams place among the nation's top five.

Stanford has won 160 conference or regional titles since 1991, again the best in the country. Cardinal teams won a record 18 conference or regional championships in '98-99 - by far the best performance of any school in the nation.

Not only has the Cardinal won an NCAA record six NCAA team championships in a single season (1996-97), but it has also won five NCAA titles in a single year on three occasions: 1991-92, '94-95 and '97-98. Cardinal teams have won four championships in a single academic year on five occasions: 1985-86, '86-87, '92-93, '93-94 and 2001-02.

Stanford has simply dominated in several sports. Under head coach Dick Gould, the Cardinal men's tennis team has won 17 NCAA titles while the women's team has hauled in 14 national titles, including 10 under former head coach Frank Brennan and three in the last four years under current coach Lele Forood. The men's swimming program has won eight NCAA team championships, seven under current head coach Skip Kenney while the men's water polo team has captured 11 national titles.

The Cardinal women's swimming team has won nine national titles, seven under current head coach Richard Quick. Quick has been the head coach for the United States Olympic Swimming teams in 1988 (Seoul), 1996 (Atlanta) and 2000 (Sydney.) Tara VanDerveer, the 1996 United States Olympic Head Women's Basketball Coach, has led the Cardinal to two NCAA championships and five appearances in the Final Four.

Baseball coach Mark Marquess, who was the head coach of the gold medal winning 1988 United States Olympic baseball team, led the Cardinal to back-to-back College World Series titles in 1987 and '88. Former men's gymnastics coach Sadao Hamada led the Cardinal to three NCAA championships, current men's volleyball coach Don Shaw guided the Stanford women's volleyball program to four NCAA titles in the 1990s and current head women's volleyball coach John Dunning guided the Cardinal to an NCAA title in his first season in 2001. Former men's golf coach Wally Goodwin led his team to the NCAA title in 1994, the first men's golf title at Stanford since 1953. Former Director of Track Vin Lananna joined the championship parade in 1996 by leading both his men's and women's cross country teams to national titles. He came back in 1997 to lead his men's cross country team to another NCAA title and in 2000, his men's track and field team won the first national championship in track at Stanford since 1934. Lananna also led the men's cross country program to the 2003 NCAA Championship.

Olympic gold medalists are numerous on The Farm. Former Cardinal standout Bob Mathias won back-to-back Olympic decathlon gold medals in 1948 and '52 while swimmers Pablo Morales, Jenny Thompson, Summer Sanders, Janet Evans and Misty Hyman have become household names in the swimming world.

Morales, who helped Stanford win three straight NCAA team championships (1985-87), won three medals at the '84 Games in Los Angeles (one gold, two silver) and two more gold medals at the '92 Games in Barcelona. Evans won three golds in the '88 Games in Seoul and one gold and one silver in Barcelona, while Sanders won four medals in Barcelona; two gold, one silver and one bronze. Thompson is the most decorated athlete in Olympic history with eight gold medals, a silver and a bronze. Hyman added her name to the list of Stanford swimming greats by winning the 2000 Olympic Gold Medal in the 200 meter butterfly to pull off one of the biggest upsets of the Sydney Olympiad.

Some of the great student-athletes in Stanford history include Tiger Woods and Tom Watson (golf), John McEnroe, Roscoe Tanner and Tim Mayotte (men's tennis), Kim Oden and Kristin Klein (women's volleyball), Kristin Folk (basketball/volleyball), Jack McDowell and Mike Mussina (baseball), Julie Foudy (women's soccer), Hank Luisetti, Brevin Knight and Mark Madsen (men's basketball), Jennifer Azzi and Kate Starbird (women's basketball), Jim Plunkett, John Elway and Troy Walters (football), Debi Thomas (figure skating), Eric Heiden (speed skating) and the great Ernie Nevers (football), to name a few.

It's no wonder Stanford University is often referred to as the "NCAA's Champion of Champions."

On October 1, 1891, the 465 new students who were on hand for opening day ceremonies at Leland Stanford Junior University greeted Leland and Jane Stanford enthusiastically, with a chant they had made up and rehearsed only that morning. Wah-hoo! Wah-hoo! L-S-J-U! Stanford! Its wild and spirited tone symbolized the excitement of this bold adventure. As a pioneer faculty member recalled, "Hope was in every heart, and the presiding spirit of freedom prompted us to dare greatly."

For the Stanfords on that day, the university was the realization of a dream and a fitting tribute to the memory of their only son, who had died of typhoid fever weeks before his sixteenth birthday. Far from the nation's center of culture and unencumbered by tradition or ivy, the new university drew students from all over the country: many from California; some who followed professors hired from other colleges and universities; and some simply seeking adventure in the West. Though there were many difficulties during the first months – housing was inadequate, microscopes and books were late in arriving from the East – the first year foretold greatness. As Jane Stanford wrote in the summer of 1892, "Even our fondest hopes have been realized."

Stanford University The University at a Glance

Ideas of "Practical Education"

Governor and Mrs. Stanford had come from families of modest means and had built their way up through a life of hard work. So it was natural that their first thoughts were to establish an institution where young men and women could "grapple successfully with the practicalities of life." As their thoughts matured, these ideas of "practical education" enlarged to the concept of producing cultured and useful citizens who were well-prepared for professional success.

More than one hundred years later, the university still enjoys the original 8,180 acres (almost 13 square miles) of grassy fields, eucalyptus groves, and rolling hills that were the Stanfords' generous legacy, as well as the Quadrangle of "long corridors with their stately pillars" at the center of campus. It is still true, as the philosopher William James said, during his stint as a visiting professor, that the climate is "so friendly ... that every morning wakes one fresh for new amounts of work."

Current Perspectives

In other ways, the university has changed tremendously on its way to recognition as one of the world's great universities. At the hub of a vital and diverse Bay Area, Stanford is an hour's drive south of San Francisco and just a few miles north of the Silicon Valley, an area dotted with computer and high technology firms largely spawned by the university's faculty and graduates. On campus, students and faculty enjoy new libraries, modern laboratories, sports facilities, and comfortable residences. Contemporary sculpture, as well as pieces from the Stanford Museum's extensive collection of sculpture by Auguste Rodin, is placed throughout the campus, providing unexpected pleasures at many turns. At the Stanford Medical Center, world-renowned for its research, teaching, and patient care, scientists and physicians are searching for answers to fundamental questions about health and disease. Ninety miles down the coast, at Stanford's Hopkins Marine Station on the Monterey Bay, scientists are working to better understand the mechanisms of evolution, human development, and ecological systems.

The university is organized into seven schools: Earth Sciences, Education, Engineering, the Graduate School of Business, Humanities and Sciences, Law and Medicine. In addition, there are more than 30 interdisciplinary centers, programs, and research laboratories – including the Hoover Institution on War, Revolution and Peace; the Institute for International Studies; the Stanford Linear Accelerator Center; and the Stanford Center for the Study of Families, Children and Youth – where faculty from a wide range of fields bring different perspectives to bear on issues and problems. Stanford's Overseas Studies Program offers students in all fields remarkable opportunities for study abroad, with campuses in Paris, Kyoto, Santiago, Berlin, Oxford, Florence, and Moscow.

Stanford People

By any measure, Stanford's faculty – which numbers approximately 1,700 – is one of the most distinguished in the nation. It includes 17 Nobel laureates, 4 Pulitzer Prize winners, 21 National Medal of Science winners, 124 members of the National Academy of Sciences, 219 members of the American Academy of Arts and Sciences, 83 members of the National Academy of Engineering, and 24 members of the National Academy of Education. Yet beyond their array of honors, what truly distinguishes Stanford faculty is their commitment to sharing knowledge with their students. The great majority of professors teach undergraduates both in introductory lecture classes and in small advanced seminars.

Currently 13,900 students, of which 6,500 are undergraduates, live and study on campus. About 40 percent come from California, but all 50 states and approximately 100 countries are represented as well. Among undergraduates, 44 percent are African American, Asian American, Hispanic or Native American. Like the faculty, the Stanford student body is distinguished. Approximately 10 students apply to Stanford for every place in the freshman class. Seventy-six Stanford students have been named Rhodes Scholars and 52 have been named Marshall Scholars. Nearly 90 percent of graduating seniors plan to attend graduate or professional schools. Stanford students also shine in a tremendous array of activities outside the classroom – from student government to music, theater, and journalism. Through the Haas Center for Public Service, students participate in dozens of community service activities, such as tutoring programs for children in nearby East Palo Alto, the Hunger Project, and the Arbor Free Clinic.

In the athletic arena, Stanford students have enjoyed tremendous success as well. Stanford fields teams in 34 Division I varsity sports – equally divided between men's and women's teams. Of Stanford's 98 national team titles, 48 have been captured since 1990, by far the most in the nation. Thirty-eight of Stanford's athletes and coaches participated in the 1992 Olympics in Barcelona, 49 competed in Atlanta at the 1996 Games and 34 represented Stanford at the 2000 Games in Sydney – by far the most of any university in the nation. Intramural and club sports are also popular; over 1,000 students take part in the club sports program, while participation in the intramural program has reached 9,000, with many students active in more than one sport.

Looking Ahead

In her address to the Board of Trustees, in 1904, Jane Stanford said, "... Let us not be afraid to outgrow old thoughts and ways, and dare to think on new lines as to the future of the work under our care." Her thoughts echo in the words of former Stanford President Gerhard Casper, who has said, "The true university must reinvent itself every day ... At Stanford, these are days of such reconsideration and fresh support for our fundamental tasks – teaching, learning, and research."

Stanford University still enjoys the original 8,100 acres of grassy fields, eucalyptus groves, and rolling hills that were the Stanfords' generous legacy.

The Stanford women's softball team plays its home games at the Boyd and Jill Smith Family Stadium, located just south of Sunken Diamond (baseball stadium). Phase One of the construction was completed prior to the 1997 season while Phase Two, completed in the spring of 2001, included permanent seating, restroom facilities, a new batting cage, and a press box.

The stadium has a fixed seating capacity of 820. The facility has a capacity of 1,500 and is scaleable to 3,500. The stadium has fixed, theater-style seating with individual seats. Wheelchair seating is located throughout the facility. Gates open one hour prior to the first pitch.

The field surface is a Bermuda Rye Blend, mowed to one inch.

STANFORD ON THE USA NATIONAL TEAM

Stanford athletes competed for a chance to be on the USA Olympic squad that will compete in Athens, Greece in the summer of 2004.

Sophomore Lauren Lappin was an alternate for the 2004 Olympics.

Jessica Mendoza represented the United States at the 2004 Olympics.

Stanford's four-time All-American outfielder Jessica Mendoza and head coach John Rittman represented the United States at the 2004 Olympic Games in Athens, Greece, bringing home a gold medal. Current Cardinal standout Lauren Lappin served as an alternate on the squad.

Mendoza and Rittman were members of the USA National Softball Team that won the 2002 US Cup, Canada Cup, Japan Cup and the World Championships. At the Japan Cup, Mendoza earned the team's Batting Title, an award given out at every tournament. Former All-American Sarah Beeson was a member of the US Select Team that placed second at the Canada Cup. Mendoza was also a member of the gold medal winning 2003 Pan Am squad.

Junior Lauren Lappin led the USA Softball Elite squad to the gold medal at the 2003 Canada Cup and a sweep of Olympic bronze medalist Australia in the Pacific Challenge. She was also currently part of the Junior Olympic National Team.

In 2001 Mendoza and Rittman were selected by the Amateur Softball Association of America/USA Softball as part of 32 elite athletes and six coaches who participated on two separate national teams during the season. Mendoza was selected to the USA Red Team as a player while Rittman joined the team as one of the three coaches. Senior Dana Sorensen and Beeson were also included in the selection process.

This summer junior Catalina Morris and sophomore Jackie Rinehart competed on the USA Schutt Elite Team which participated in the Canada Cup and Champions Cup.
