Stanford Athletics—Home of Champions

“Home of Champions.”

Those are the bywords for the Stanford University Athletic Department.

And for good reason. No athletic department in the country can boast of the kind of success that Stanford has accomplished since the 1980s. NCAA team champions. NCAA individual champions. Olympic medalists. Stanford University athletes have been all over the world capturing championships.

The statistics speak for themselves

Stanford University has won 66 NCAA team championships since 1980, the most in the nation; Cardinal athletes have won 43 NCAA championships since 1990—again the most in the nation. Stanford has brought home 19 NCAA championship trophies the past five years, including an unprecedented six NCAA team titles in 1996-97. In 1991-92, Stanford athletes took home 29 individual NCAA titles—an NCAA record. Cardinal athletes won 21 individual championships during the 1992-93 season, the second most in history.

Even more impressive is Stanford's string of eight consecutive Sears Directors' Cup titles (1995-02). The award honors the nation's top overall athletic program and with eight straight #1 finishes, it's no wonder Stanford is considered the dominant athletic program in the nation.

Stanford captured its eighth straight Sears Directors' Cup in 2001-02 with 1499 points, winning the honor by 388.5 points over second place Texas. The Cardinal won a total of four NCAA team crowns with championships in women's tennis and women's volleyball, as well as men's and women's water polo. The Cardinal added second place national finishes in men's cross country, men's swimming and synchronized swimming. A total of 11 Stanford teams finished among the nation's Top Five and 22 among the Top 10. The Cardinal also picked up 18 individual NCAA titles and 14 team conference championships.

In 2000-01, Stanford won an NCAA team championship in women's tennis and had 15 teams finish in the top five nationally. The Cardinal also had 20 teams place among the top 10 and 26 among the top 25, to go along with 14 individual national champions and 12 conference titles.

Stanford has now won at least one NCAA team championship for 26 straight years. Cardinal teams have also won four or more NCAA team titles in a single year nine times, an NCAA best.

All totaled, Stanford has won 93 collegiate team titles (83 NCAA championships) and 367 NCAA individual titles. Cardinal women have won an NCAA-best 29 team championships while men's teams have captured 54 NCAA team titles, third best in the nation. Overall, Stanford's 83 NCAA team championships rank second in the nation.

In the last 10 years (since 1992-93), Stanford has claimed 37 national team championships and 34 NCAA team titles—the best in the country.

Stanford has also enjoyed unequalled success in Olympic competition.

Stanford was represented by a total of 34 athletes and coaches at the 2000 Summer Games in Sydney, Australia. The Cardinal contingent won a total of 10 medals—four gold, three silver and three bronze. At the 1996 Games in Atlanta, Stanford placed 49 coaches and athletes on Olympic teams, accounting for 16 gold medals, one silver and one bronze. Cardinal athletes earned 19 medals (10 gold, four silver, five bronze) during the 1992 Games in Barcelona with 38 Stanford-affiliated athletes and coaches participating.

Some of the great student-athletes in Stanford history include Tiger Woods and Tom Watson (golf); John McEnroe, Roscoe Tanner and Tim Mayotte (men's tennis); Kim Oden and Kristin Klein (women's volleyball); Kristin Folk (basketball/volleyball); Jack McDowell and Mike Mussina (baseball); Julie Fowdy (women's soccer); Hank Luisetti, Brevin Knight and Mark Madsen (men's basketball); Jennifer Azzi and Kate Starbird (women's basketball); Jim Plunkett, John Elway and Troy Walters (football); Debi Thomas (figure skating); Eric Heiden (speed skating); and the great Ernie Nevers (football); to name a few.

It's no wonder Stanford University is often referred to as the “NCAA's Champion of Champions.”

2002 Season Outlook

The 2002 Stanford field hockey team features an experienced squad with 13 returning letterwinners and five senior starters from last year's squad, which finished one game shy of earning its second straight trip to the NCAA Tournament and won a share of the regular season NorPac West title. The Cardinal will also be looking for its third NorPac Tournament title when the Cardinal hosts the eight-team event for the second time in its five year history.

"We are excited about the 2002 campaign and being the host for the NorPac Championships," said head coach Sheryl Johnson. "We have continued to make significant progress over the last few years and a lot of the players on this team have been responsible for our progression."

Senior tri-captains Amanda Billmyer, Christina Williams and Tysie Sawyer will key the 2002 team in three primary positions on the field.

Billmyer will look to be the team's primary offensive player, bringing career totals of 31 points and 55 starts into her final collegiate campaign.

Williams is hoping to cap an outstanding collegiate career in the midfield. She has started 42 of the team's 43 contests over the past two years and has played in 59 of 61 possible games during the first three years of her career. Williams has proved not only to be a force in the middle but also an offensive threat with 22 career points.

Sawyer is expected to anchor the team's defensive efforts after starting 42 of 43 games over the past two years. Last year, she played a key role in leading the Cardinal to the nation's second-best defensive unit with an 0.95 GAA.

Defenders Amrit Chima, Liz Ott and Lauren Steward complete the six-player senior class that must attempt to lead the way in filling the shoes of the team's top two scorers (Erica Swesey, Melissa Stai), as well as defensive standouts Rebecca Shapiro (goalkeeper), Sara Herman and Melita Sawyer. The first four completed their collegiate careers in 2001 by earning either First or Second Team All-NorPac honors.

Chima and Ott were both starters for the Cardinal in 2001, combining for nine points in 34 starts between the pair. Chima has also scored 20 points over her first three collegiate seasons.

Forward Noor Dawood is the team's final returning starter from a year ago and leads a junior class that will be expected to move into a primary support role for this year's seniors. Dawood contributed four points last year and has 15 career points.

The junior class is completed by defensive players Dani Guernsey and Vicki Ward, as well as forward Keely Machmer-Wessels and goalkeeper Emily Zander. Zander will step into the cage at the start of this year. She's been working hard and while she has big shoes to fill, she's more than up to the challenge.

Forward/midfielder Eleanor Morgan and forward Molly Melcher make up the team's sophomore class. Morgan will be looked upon to help pick up some of the slack in the scoring department after the graduation of Swesey, the team's leading scorer for the last two seasons and a Regional All-American in 2001. Last year, Morgan contributed six points in just seven starts and 14 games played.

The four freshman players joining the Cardinal in 2002 are forward/midfielder Lyndsay Erickson (Los Gatos, CA/Los Gatos HS), midfielder Missy Halliday (Ocean City, NJ/Ocean City HS), goalkeeper Ana Kralovec (Davis, CA/Davis HS) and defender Tammy Shuer (Mountain View/St. Francis HS).

Sheryl Johnson to Retire at End of 2002 Season

Sheryl Johnson has announced that she will retire in December of 2002 at the conclusion of her 18th season as Stanford field hockey's head coach. Current assistant coach Lesley Irvine has been named the successor.

"It's been an honor and a privilege to coach the student-athletes that I have at Stanford over the last 18 years," said Johnson. "Winning championships has always been our goal, but this special program is also about the development of the entire student-athlete, as well as building friendships and memories to last a lifetime."

Johnson plans to pursue a career as a Private Investigator in partnership with her brother Mike Johnson, owner of the highly successful Quest Associates in Reno, Nevada.

Stanford Athletics wishes Coach Johnson the best in all of her future endeavors and thanks her for all the great memories.

The Coaching Staff

Head Coach Sheryl Johnson

Sheryl Johnson enters her 18th season at the helm of Stanford field hockey in 2002 and is widely acknowledged as the principal architect of this success story. Johnson, a three-time member of the U.S. Olympic Field Hockey Team and member of the U.S. National Team for 14 years (1978-91), is a member of the only U.S. Team in history to win an Olympic Medal in Field Hockey, competing and winning the bronze medal in the 1984 Olympics in Los Angeles.

Coach Johnson has led Stanford to nine NorPac Conference Championships and seven appearances in the NCAA playoffs. An eight-time recipient of the NorPac Coach of the Year Award (1985, '87, '90, '91, '95, '96, '97, '98), Johnson has a 158-114-11 career record. Coach Johnson has served on the Board of Directors of the United States Field Hockey Association (USFHA) and as a member of the High Performance Committee, overseeing the women's elite teams. She served on the NCAA Field Hockey Championship Committee for six years and has served as a member of the coaching staff and selection committee at the USFHA "A Camp," the selection site for the women's National Team. In the summers of 2001 and 2002, Johnson was a player and mentor on the Cyclones in the nationally acclaimed U.S. Field Hockey Summer League, traveling and competing nationwide.

Johnson brings a wealth of experience, leadership and a rich history to her coaching position at Stanford. During her 14 years of National Team competition, she served in a leadership position as co-captain for six years. She participated in seven Olympic Festivals (1978, '81, '83, '85, '87, '89, '90) and was voted USA Field Hockey Athlete of the Year on three different occasions by her teammates (1986, '87, '89). Johnson played on the 1987 Pan American Games team for the U.S., earning a silver medal. Overall, she has traveled to over 20 countries to represent the U.S. in international competitions and held a long-standing record as the "most capped" player in history, tallying 137 sanctioned international matches (and close to three times that in international scrimmages). This feat was duly noted in the Guinness Book of World Records for many years. Johnson retired from the National Team in 1991 and was inducted into the USFHA Hall of Fame in May of 1994. Additional Hall of Fame inductions along the way included 1983's induction into the Monta Vista High School Hall of Fame and the University of California Hall of Fame (her undergraduate alma mater where she lettered in field hockey, basketball, and softball). In 1990, she was the first woman to be inducted into the DeAnza Junior College Hall of Fame. Johnson was one of only a handful of former Cal athletes honored by the C-society in the Spring of 2001 when she was recognized as the only woman in Cal's history to letter in three sports. Johnson makes excellent use of this world of experience in her dual role as camp director for the Stanford Field Hockey Camp each summer.

Coach Johnson attended DeAnza Junior College before transferring to California, where she earned a Bachelor's degree in 1980. She received her Master's degree in education and a teaching credential from Stanford in 1981. Johnson resides in Sunnyvale, California.

Assistant Coach Lesley Irvine

Lesley Irvine begins her second season as an assistant coach with the 2002 Stanford field hockey team.

A native of England, Irvine followed a standout field hockey career overseas by playing one season of collegiate field hockey in her first year as a graduate student at Iowa in the fall of 1999. Irvine led the Hawkeyes to a Final Four appearance and a Big Ten championship by leading the team with 47 points (17 goals, 13 assists). Irvine was named to the Final Four and Big Ten All-Tournament teams, and was also a Second Team Regional All-American.

Irvine played three years of field hockey for Loughborough University in England, winning a total of five national championships (three outdoor, two indoor). She also was selected to play for the England Under 18 and Under 21 national teams during her playing career overseas.

Goalkeeper Coach Rebecca Shapiro

Rebecca Shapiro begins her collegiate coaching career as the goalkeeper coach for the Cardinal in 2002. She has two years of experience in coaching goalkeepers in the Futures program.

Shapiro finished an outstanding four-year playing career at Stanford in 2001 by earning First Team All-NorPac honors for the first time in her illustrious career. Shapiro recorded seven of her 22 career shutouts in her final collegiate campaign and posted a career-low 1.02 GAA. She also had a huge junior season with a 1.17 GAA as well as career-highs in shutouts (11) and saves (148).

Shapiro is scheduled to graduate from Stanford in June of 2003 with a pair of Bachelor's degrees in Urban Studies and Human Biology.

Volunteer Assistant Coach Patrick Burrows

A native of Canada, Patrick Burrows brings his international field hockey experience to Stanford's coaching staff for a fifth consecutive season.

Burrows earned a total of 224 national team caps before retiring after the 1998 World Cup in Utrecht, Holland. During his playing career, he competed in two Olympic Games (1984, '88), three World Cups (1986, '90, '98) and three Pan American Games (1983, '87, '95). Burrows twice earned a gold medal at the Pan American Games (1983, '87) and won a silver in 1995. He captained the National Team from 1985 to 1990 and after a four-year "retirement period" returned to lead the team from 1994-1998. Burrows received an athletic scholarship for ice hockey from the University of Miami (Ohio) before graduating from the University of Toronto in 1982.

Burrows also served as an assistant coach for the 2000 Canadian Men's Olympic Field Hockey team.

As a Sophomore in 2001: Played in a pair of games and recorded shutouts in both contests, including her first career start at Indiana (9/7). Credited with the victory in a 1-0 penalty stroke win over Indiana (9/7) after playing all 70 regulation minutes. Totaled 88:10 minutes for the season without giving up a goal. Recorded three saves and posted a 1.000 save percentage. Named NFHA All-Academic.

As a Freshman in 2000: Played in six games, coming up with 10 saves and allowing just one goal for an 0.66 GAA. Credited with five shutouts, all while sharing goalkeeper duties with Rebecca Shapiro. Picked up 10 saves and recorded a .909 save percentage.

High School: 2000 graduate of Monta Vista High School (alma mater of Stanford head coach Sheryl Johnson), Cupertino, CA. Named the team's Most Valuable Defensive Player all four years. Named First Team and honorable mention by the San Jose Mercury News in 1998 and 1999, respectively.

Other Amateur Field Hockey: 1998 Junior Olympian. USFHA National Futures participant and National Futures Tournament selectee.

Personal: Human Biology major. Born February 8, 1982. Daughter of Andrew and Sandie Zander.

Coaching Staff on Zander: "Emily has been working hard and has been a significant contributor. Now, Emily has the chance to step into the position this year and make her own mark on our program."

SOPHOMORES

#25 Molly Melcher

Forward

As a Freshman in 2001: Played in four games with one start at Indiana (9/7).

High School: 2001 graduate of St. Ignatius High School, San Francisco, CA. Three-time All-Conference choice. Earned First Team All-Central Coast Section honors as a senior and was named honorable mention All-CCS in sophomore campaign. Scored 43 goals in final three prep seasons. Also competed for a lacrosse team that finished second in the state as a sophomore, as well as third in her final two campaigns.

Other Amateur Field Hockey: A four-year member of the USFHA Futures program.

Personal: Intending to major in Biology. Born May 19, 1983. Daughter of Frank and Patricia Melcher.

Coaching Staff on Melcher: "Molly has worked hard all year, and we look for her to be a threat on the attack."

#9 Eleanor Morgan

Forward/Midfield

As a Freshman in 2001: Scored six points (two goals, two assists) in 14 games and seven starts. Named NorPac Rookie of the Week (10/23). Scored both of her goals versus Fairfield (9/1). Named NFHA All-Academic.

High School: 2001 graduate of Bethesda-Chevy Chase High School, Silver Springs, MD. Earned numerous honors in her senior season, including South Region and Academic All-American awards, in addition to All-State and All-County selections. Prep squad won three consecutive state titles (1998, '99, 2000), part of what is now a Maryland record and current streak of eight straight state prep championships. Scored 75 points in her final two prep campaigns (28 goals, 19 assists). Also a standout in lacrosse and indoor track. A national Merit Finalist and a Maryland Distinguished Scholar.

Other Amateur Field Hockey: Selected to the USFHA A-Camp in December of 2000.

Personal: Undeclared major. Born April 16, 1983. Daughter of Craig and Sing-huen Morgan. Sister, Elise, was an All-American field hockey player at Stanford, finishing her collegiate career in 1995.

Coaching Staff on Morgan: "Eleanor established herself as one of the better freshman players in the country last season. We expect that she will develop into one of our top scorers and a team leader over the next three years."

FRESHMEN

#34 Lyndsay Erickson

Forward/Midfield

High School: 2002 graduate of Los Gatos High School, Los Gatos, CA. A First Team All-Section choice as a senior and a First Team All-League selection in her final two prep seasons. Personal: Undeclared major. Born June 21, 1984. Daughter of Larry and Paula Shuer. Sister, Jenna, is a junior on the 2002 Stanford women's soccer squad.

Coaching Staff on Shuer: "Tammy will be able to contribute defensively this year. She is a talented player and has the potential to make a great impact."

2001 Season Review

Stanford reached the finals of the NorPac Tournament for the fourth consecutive year in 2001 and came within one victory of reaching the NCAA Tournament for the second straight season. The Cardinal posted an 11-8 overall record to mark its second straight season with double-digit victories. Stanford also earned a Co-NorPac West Division title (along with California) after going 5-1 in conference play. The Cardinal's co-title was its first regular season crown since winning the regular season NorPac title in 1998. In the NorPac Tournament, Stanford won its first two games over Radford (2-1) and East Division regular season champion Southwest Missouri State (1-0) before falling to the Golden Bears by a 2-0 score in the championship game. The Cardinal ranked No. 20 in the final regular season 2001 NCAA Division I Field Hockey poll.

A couple of winning streaks highlighted the team's regular season. A six-game win string from September 13-October 23 was the team's longest since 1998 as the Cardinal dominated opponents, 15-1, during the stretch. Stanford also extended its win streak over NorPac foes to eight in a row before California edged the Cardinal, 1-0, in its final regular season game of 2001 to end both streaks. Stanford also had arguably its most impressive victory in school history early in the campaign when the Cardinal knocked off No. 3 Michigan State on August 31.

Senior goalkeeper Rebecca Shapiro and senior forward Erica Swesey both posted outstanding numbers in their final collegiate seasons. Shapiro ranked second in the NorPac with a 1.02 GAA and recorded seven shutouts to finish her career with 22 after helping to blank opponents in five of her final seven regular season contests. Swesey led the Cardinal with 24 points (11 goals, two assists), ranking tied for first in the NorPac in goals and third in points. Swesey, who also led the squad with five game-winners, had a hot stretch with nine goals during Stanford's six-game win streak (9/13/01 - 10/23/01), scoring at least one goal in all six games and six consecutive goals for the team at one point. Both players earned First Team All-NorPac honors. Swesey was also named to the All-NorPac Tournament squad and earned Second Team STX/NHFCA West Region All-American honors. Senior defenders Sara Herman and Melissa Stai both earned Second Team All-NorPac honors. Stai ranked second on the squad with nine points and had three game-winning goals. Amanda Billmyer and Christina Williams also earned spots on the 2001 All-NorPac Tournament team.

Stanford ranked second in the nation in defense and led the NorPac with an 0.95 GAA. The Cardinal ranked third in the conference in offense, averaging 1.47 goals per contest.

"The 2001 season was one of tremendous highs and lows," summarized head coach Sheryl Johnson. "From the incredible victory over No. 3 ranked Michigan State to our heartbreaking loss of the NorPac Tournament crown and the chance to advance to the NCAA playoffs ... and everything between. We grew as a team and as individuals, and with the graduation of our five senior leaders and starters, we are looking to our talented underclassmen to step up and lead us to victory."

Stanford Stands Out

Nationally Recognized Program: Stanford is consistently ranked among the top collegiate field hockey programs in the country.

Academics: Stanford Field Hockey presents the ultimate challenge to student-athletes with a 100% graduation rate.

Tradition: Stanford Field Hockey is the longest running varsity sport at Stanford.

Friendships: Stanford Field Hockey has a history for forming friendships on the field that continue long after graduation. Alums continue to play well after college and remain connected by their experiences at Stanford. Former players remain committed to each other as well as to the program and the growth of field hockey.

Experience: Stanford's coaching staff features a three-time Olympian in head coach Sheryl Johnson. Former Iowa standout Lesley Irvine, Stanford goalkeeper Rebecca Shapiro and Canadian National Team member and Olympian Patrick Burrows round out the experienced, skilled and supportive coaching staff.

At a Glance

On October 1, 1891, the 465 new students who were on hand for opening day ceremonies at Leland Stanford Junior University greeted Leland and Jane Stanford enthusiastically, with a chant they had made up and rehearsed only that morning. Wah-hoo! Wah-hoo! L-S-J-U! Stanford! Its wild and spirited tone symbolized the excitement of this bold adventure. As a pioneer faculty member recalled, “Hope was in every heart, and the presiding spirit of freedom prompted us to dare greatly.”

For the Stanfords on that day, the university was the realization of a dream and a fitting tribute to the memory of their only son, who had died of typhoid fever weeks before his sixteenth birthday. Far from the nation’s center of culture and unencumbered by tradition or ivy, the new university drew students from all over the country: many from California; some who followed professors hired from other colleges and universities; and some simply seeking adventure in the West. Though there were many difficulties during the first months—housing was inadequate, microscopes and books were late in arriving from the East—the first year foretold greatness. As Jane Stanford wrote in the summer of 1892, “Even our fondest hopes have been realized.”

Stanford People

By any measure, Stanford’s faculty—which numbers approximately 1,700—is one of the most distinguished in the nation. It includes 17 Nobel laureates, four Pulitzer Prize winners, 21 National Medal of Science winners, 124 members of the National Academy of Sciences, 219 members of the American Academy of Arts and Sciences, 83 members of the National Academy of Engineering, and 24 members of the National Academy of Education. Yet beyond their array of honors, what truly distinguishes Stanford faculty is their commitment to sharing knowledge with their students. The great majority of professors teach undergraduates both in introductory lecture classes and in small advanced seminars.

Currently 13,900 students, of which 6,500 are undergraduates, live and study on campus. About 40 percent come from California, but all 50 states and approximately 100 countries are represented as well. Among undergraduates, 44 percent are African American, Asian American, Hispanic or Native American. Like the faculty, the Stanford student body is distinguished. Approximately 10 students apply to Stanford for every place in the freshman class. Seventy-six Stanford students have been named Rhodes Scholars and 52 have been named Marshall Scholars. Nearly 90 percent of graduating seniors plan to attend graduate or professional schools. Stanford students also shine in a tremendous array of activities outside the classroom—from student government to music, theater, and journalism. Through the Haas Center for Public Service, students participate in dozens of community service activities, such as tutoring programs for children in nearby East Palo Alto, the Hunger Project, and the Arbor Free Clinic.

In the athletic arena, Stanford students have enjoyed tremendous success as well. Stanford fields teams in 34 Division I varsity sports—equally divided between men’s and women’s teams. Of Stanford’s 93 national team titles, 43 have been captured since 1990, by far the most in the nation. Thirty-eight of Stanford’s athletes and coaches participated in the 1992 Olympics in Barcelona, 49 competed in Atlanta at the 1996 Games and 34 represented Stanford at the 2000 Games in Sydney—by far the most of any university in the nation. Intramural and club sports are also popular; over 1,000 students take part in the club sports program, while participation in the intramural program has reached 9,000, with many students active in more than one sport.
