Head Coach

Head coach Paul Ratcliffe, honored three times as West Coast Conference Coach of the Year (1999, 2000, 2001), takes over a Cardinal program that has appeared in the postseason 12 of the last 13 years as he enters his first season at Stanford's helm.

"We are very excited to have a coach of Paul Ratcliffe's caliber join the Stanford Athletic Department and work with our student-athletes,"

Athletic Director Ted Leland said. "We are extremely proud of our women's soccer team and their recent accomplishments and are looking forward to even greater accomplishments under Paul's leadership."

Ratcliffe, the 2001 WCC co-Coach of the Year and NSCAA West Region Coach of the Year, spent five seasons at the head of Saint Mary's women's soccer team. Ratcliffe led the Gaels to a 55-34-7 overall record, 21-13-1 in WCC action.

The 2001 season was Ratcliffe's most successful with SMU. With only one senior in the starting lineup, the Gaels attained the highest national ranking for the program (seventh), set a school record 13-game winning streak and advanced to the second round of the NCAA Tournament.

Prior to Saint Mary's, Ratcliffe was an assistant coach at UCLA from 1994-97. While with the Bruins, he was instrumental in their undefeated 1997 Pac-10 title season and NCAA Tournament Final Eight appearance. Ratcliffe also served as interim head coach for UCLA from January through August of 1996.

Ratcliffe earned his National "A" License in 1999 from the United States Soccer Federation. A graduate from UCLA in 1994, Ratcliffe earned a degree in Sociology with a specialization in Business Administration. As a Bruin, he lettered four years at midfield where he was a member of the 1990 national championship team. He tallied 30 points in 73 matches during his career at UCLA.

New Era

Senior midfielder

"The team has high expectations for this season," head coach Paul Ratcliffe said.

Goalkeeper Nicole Barnhart

Senior forward
Marcie Ward

Incoming head coach Paul Ratcliffe has his sights set high for Stanford women's soccer as he takes the reigns of a program that has a history of being among the top in the nation. The Cardinal will look to rebound from a 2002 season that boasted a fifth Pacific-10 Conference Championship, an undefeated conference record (9-0), a berth in the NCAA Tournament Quarterfinals, four All-Americans, a ranking of No. 5 in the nation in the final NSCAA/Adidas polls and a 21-2 overall record, the best mark in program history.

"The team has high expectations for this season," Ratcliffe said. "We have a great group of student-athletes who will be fueled by the energetic leadership of our seniors."

The squad returns seven starters from last season and will be on the hunt to replace standouts Kelsey Carlson, Marcia Wallis and Callie Withers. Top returnees include seniors Allyson Marquand, Natalie Spilger and Marcie Ward, red-shirt junior Nicole Barnhart, and sophomores Jennifer Farenbaugh and Hayley Hunt. Barnhart, Marquand and Spilger will captain the Cardinal as the team heads into the 2003 season ranked fourth in the NSCAA/Adidas preseason polls.

Stanford will face some of the top women's soccer programs in the country this season with seven scheduled opponents ranking in the top 25 and three of those in the top five in the nation in the preseason polls (No. 1 Santa Clara, tied for No. 2 Portland and No. 5 UCLA). The Cardinal have much to prove as they come up against Portland early in the season. The Pilots, eventual 2002 NCAA Champions, took the victory against Stanford in overtime penalty kicks in the quarterfinals of the NCAA Tournament last year.

The Cardinal will be on the road at the Harvard and Santa Clara Tournaments in September before returning home to host the Stanford Tournament in early October. Pac-10 Conference action will start off at Arizona. Stanford stands as one-of-four Pac-10 schools ranked in the top-25 in pre-season polls (No. 5 UCLA, No. 16 Cal and No. 19 USC).

Here's a look at the 2003 Cardinal squad by position:

Goalkeepers

Co-captain Nicole Barnhart will return as the team's starting goalkeeper after an outstanding 2002 inaugural season. The redshirt junior suffered an ACL injury in 2001 only to return in full force last season. She posted record-breaking figures while starting all 23 Cardinal matches for 2,047 total minutes of playing time.

Barnhart ranked as the nation's top goalkeeper with a 0.18 goals against average, recorded a school-record 18 shutouts, tallied 59 saves and allowed only four goals the entire season, a Pac-10 record. Her efforts earned her All-America, All-West Region and All-Pac-10 honors.

"Nicole is a tremendous goalkeeper," Ratcliffe said. "This past summer, she was a key member of the U-21 National Team that won the Nordic Cup."

Sophomore Elizabeth Barnard brings another dimension to the goalkeeping position. Barnard saw action in two games last season, allowing zero goals and recording one save. Newcomer Rachel Zollner enters her first season at Stanford. She comes from Colorado where she played for the 2001 national champion Colorado Rush soccer club and was a member of the Region IV Pool.

Defenders

The Cardinal lost only one defender from a line that held 18 of its opponents scoreless last season. The 2002 defense allowed its opponents a mere four goals and 121 shots. Seniors Allyson Marquand, Alisan Pabon and Natalie Spilger will see significant playing time as defenders in 2003.

"This year's defense possesses great leadership and athleticism," Ratcliffe said.

Pabon was named an All-American by Soccer America and received Honorable Mention All-Pac-10 honors last year. Co-captain Marquand started all 23 matches in 2002, tallying two goals, three assists and 23 shots on her way to Second-Team All-Pac-10 honors. Co-captain Spilger earned Honorable Mention All-Pac-10 accolades last season.

Sophomores Jennifer Farenbaugh, Hayley Hunt and Lindsey Hunt will also contribute to the Cardinal defensive line. Farenbaugh, Honorable Mention All-Pac-10, ranked third on last season's squad with 18 points on seven goals and four assists. Hayley Hunt was the lone freshman and one-of-five players in 2002 to start all 23 matches. She earned All-Pac-10 honors for her performances.

Rachel Buehler will get a look as the top-incoming freshman defender. Buehler competed on the world champion U-19 National Team in 2002.

2003 STANFORD WOMEN'S SOCCER

Senior defender Allyson Marquand

Midfielders

Stanford's midfield consists of a diverse group that includes senior Brittany Oliveira, juniors Lisa Engel, Amy Grady and Emilee Shim and sophomore Leah Tapscott.

"We have a skillful group of midfielders that will add creativity to our style of play," Ratcliffe said.

The Cardinal will need to replace Kelsey Carlson and Callie Withers, a duo that contributed eight goals to the 2002 Stanford offense. Withers plays for the Atlanta Beat of the WUSA.

Freshman Shari Summers, a member of the U-19 National and Region IV Teams, will join the Cardinal midfielders this season.

Forwards

Senior Marcie Ward will continue a stellar Cardinal career as she enters her final season at Stanford. Ward has started every match of her 65-game collegiate career and already tops the Cardinal recordbooks with 38 career assists. She led the 2002 team in assists (13) and topped the charts with teammate Marcia Wallis in shots (80) and scoring (33). Ward's performance last year earned her First-Team All-Pac-10 and Second-Team West Region All-America honors.

"We have a well-balanced forward line and expect all of them to make a significant contribution," Ratcliffe said.

Junior Natalie Sanderson will be another team leader at forward. She tallied five goals and three assists for 13 points last season.

Junior Katie Wayland and redshirt freshman Heidi Herrick will be vying for action as forwards. The Cardinal lose the contributions of Marcia Wallis who currently plays for the Carolina Courage of the WUSA.

Two sources provide scholarship funds for Stanford's student-athletes: the Athletic Department's scholarship endowment and the Buck/Cardinal Club. Together they provide upwards of $10 million in financial aid.

Endowed Scholarships

Endowed scholarships are large sums of money that have been invested in the University's endowment and generate significant interest income each year. A portion of the income is spent on student aid and the remainder is reinvested in the principal. The following endowed scholarships, named for the donor or for someone the donor wishes to honor, provide full or partial grants-in-aid to members of the 2003 women's soccer team:

The Chambers Family Endowed Athletic Scholarship	Natalie Spilger
The Evelyn Lloyd Dees Athletic Scholarship	Nicole Barnhart
The Rachford and Carlota A. Harris Scholarship	Brittany Oliveira
The J.E. and Mildred Hollingsworth Scholarship	Natalie Sanderson
The Frank J. Lodato Athletic Scholarship	Jennifer Farenbaugh
The Clarke and Elizabeth Nelson Scholarship	Marcie Ward & Allyson Marquand
The Lillian B. and Tom B. Rhodes Scholarship	Alisan Pabon
The Swanson Foundation Athletic Scholarship	Rachel Zollner

The Buck/Cardinal Club

Nearly $3 million is raised annually in scholarship funds through the gifts of the Club's 6,000 members. Over 250 volunteers assist the Athletic Department in its annual fund raising efforts.

The Buck/Cardinal Club is providing full or partial grants-in-aid to the following members of the 2003 Stanford Soccer Team:

Lisa Engel, Ventura, California	Amy Grady, Pawtucket, Connecticut
Hayley Hunt, San Marino, California	Lindsey Hunt, San Marino, California

A rich history for Cardinal soccer

all americans • olympic gold medalists

national team members • ncaa final four finishes

Julie Foudy – 1996 Olympic gold medalist, member of the 1999 Women's World Cup Championship Team and 2000 Olympic team.

Stanford Athletics is referred to by many as the Home of Champions after being awarded nine consecutive Sears Directors' Cup titles, presented annually by the National Association of Collegiate Directors of Athletics (NACDA) to the best overall collegiate athletic program in the country. The Cardinal women's soccer program has played a big part in that success.

The Cardinal have racked up a 241-105-24 all-time record and a .684 winning percentage since the program's inception in 1984. Stanford has also appeared in the NCAA Tournament 12 of the past 13 seasons and has had 14 players selected to All-American teams over that time. This list of notable names includes U.S. Olympic gold medalist and National Player of the Year Julie Foudy and current Women's United Soccer Association (WUSA) athletes Ronnie Fair, Marcia Wallis and Callie Withers.

“ Stanford has appeared in the NCAA Tournament 12 of the past 13 years, and Stanford Stadium has hosted two World Cup Soccer matches. ”

The Cardinal's rapid rise to the top began in 1988 and hasn't slowed as the squad has made NCAA Tournament appearances a regular occurrence. The most dramatic of those came in 1993 when Stanford fell just short of qualifying for the NCAA Championship match.

The Cardinal defeated California 2-0 in first-round action and Portland 1-0 in the second round before meeting George Mason in the Final Four Semifinals in Chapel Hill, N.C. The teams played to a 1-1 tie before George Mason pulled out a 3-1 victory in penalty kicks.

Stanford finished 18-2-2 in 1993, and was led by standout forward Sarah Rafanelli, who set school records for goals (20) and points (48) in a single season. Right behind Rafanelli was freshman Erin Martin, who set a school freshman record with 40 points. Goalkeeper Leslie Garrard allowed only eight goals all season long.

A year later, the Cardinal fell just short of the Final Four when it dropped a 2-1 match to Portland in triple overtime in the NCAA West Regional final. One day earlier, the Cardinal played to a scoreless tie with Washington before prevailing 6-5 in penalty kicks. In 1995, Stanford fell to Santa Clara 3-2 in first-round Tournament action, but not before taking the Broncos into triple overtime. Santa Clara proved to be too large of a challenge again in 1996, taking the Cardinal out of the tourney again in the first round.

The Cardinal would not appear in the Tournament again until 1998 when the squad was defeated 6-1 by BYU in the first round. Stanford made impressive showings in the NCAA Tournament in 1999, 2000 and 2001. It would not be until 2002 when the Cardinal would suffer another heartbreaking loss and be denied a berth into the semifinals.

Stanford boasted an 18-1 regular season record going into the initial rounds of the 2002 NCAA Tournament. The Cardinal virtually shut out Cal Poly (4-0), California (1-0) and Notre Dame (1-0) before facing Portland in the Tournament's quarterfinals. The Pilots and Cardinal battled to a 0-0 tie in double overtime until Portland was able to clinch the 4-2 victory in penalty kicks.

Besides producing great teams, Stanford's Maloney Field has also been home to some of the greatest collegiate women's soccer players in history. Julie Foudy, a member of the 1996 U.S. Olympic Team and a member of the U.S. National Team since 1991, was the first four-time All-American (1989-92) in the history of women's soccer on The Farm. She ranks second in school history in points scored and goals.

Forward Sarah Rafanelli became Stanford's other four-time All-American when she was honored from 1990-93. Rafanelli is the all-time leading point scorer in school history with 152 and tops the Stanford charts in goals with 59.

Jessica Fischer earned national honors from 1993-95. She spearheaded a Cardinal defense that allowed just 52 goals over the course of her four years. All-American Erin Martin, 1993 Freshman All-American and 1996 Pac-10 Player of the Year, ranks first in shots on goal with 346 for the Cardinal, is the third-leading scorer in Stanford history (126 points) and ties for third in goals (49).

Four Stanford student-athletes earned All-America honors in 2002: Nicole Barnhart, Alisan Pabon, Marcia Wallis and Callie Withers. Recent graduate Wallis started every match of her 86-game Cardinal career and will join former teammate Withers in the WUSA this season. Barnhart now boasts the best goals against average in Stanford soccer history with 0.189.

Maloney Field also generates some of the best fan attendance in the nation. Last season, Stanford women's soccer ranked fourth in the nation in overall attendance (16,447) and seventh in average attendance (1,265).

Pro Soccer Stanford in the WUSA

Numerous Stanford alums compete in the women's professional soccer league

On February 15, 2000, major media companies and individual investors joined forces with the nation's leading female soccer stars to form the Women's United Soccer Association (WUSA), the world's premier women's international professional soccer league. The WUSA then allocated 20 founding players, all former U.S. National Team members including Stanford graduate Julie Foudy (1989-92), to its eight initial teams. That November, the names of the eight teams were unveiled: Atlanta Beat, Boston Breakers, Carolina Courage, New York Power, Philadelphia Charge, San Diego Spirit, San Jose CyberRays and Washington Freedom.

In its third season, the eight-team league features the best players from the U.S. World Cup Championship Team and top-flight international players. Stanford currently has six former student-athletes on WUSA rosters, representing five teams. Carly Smolak (1997-2000) plays for the New York Power. Ronnie Fair (1996-99) joined Stanford alum Julie Foudy on the San Diego Spirit. Emily Burt (1993-97) represents Stanford on the Philadelphia Charge. Recent Stanford graduates Marcia Wallis (1999-2002) and Callie Withers (1999-2002) compete for the Carolina Courage and the Atlanta Beat, respectively.

Maloney Field

Home of Championship Soccer

Home to the Stanford men's and women's soccer programs, the newly renovated Maloney Field is one of the best collegiate soccer facilities in the country.

Completed in 1997, the field has played host to numerous collegiate, professional and international events, including the Women's World Cup in the summer of 1999, when Maloney Field was used as a practice field. Since the 1997 season, the Cardinal men have posted a 53-5-5 record in the facility, while the women have compiled a 47-12-4 mark.

Phase I of the renovation was completed in 1997, and included the upgrade of the field itself and the installation of temporary seating. The 115'x76' game field is adjacent to practice fields measuring 160'x120'.

The second phase of the upgrade was completed during the 1998 season. Phase II saw the installation of 80-foot high light poles around the perimeter of the field, making it possible to host night competition in accordance to NCAA standards. The lights are part of Musco Light's top of the line TLC (Total Light Control) system. Permanent bleachers were also installed on the west side of the field, increasing the capacity at Maloney Field to approximately 2,000. The bleachers are precast concrete in two sections, with an entry plaza between them. A new Daktronics scoreboard and message center were also added to complete the field. Enhanced landscaping and completing of Maloney Plaza link the facility to the rest of the Stanford Sports Complex.

With the renovation of Maloney field, Stanford was selected to host the first, second, third and quarterfinal NCAA Tournament matches in 2002; first, second and third-round matches in 2001; first and second-round matches in 2000; and second and third-round matches in 1999. Temporary bleachers were added, and the games drew sellout crowds to watch the best of collegiate soccer in one of the finest facilities in the country. Maloney Field has been the venue for a number of international and professional soccer events, including hosting the Mexican Women's Team and the local Major League Soccer team, the San Jose Earthquakes.

Stanford Athletic Facilities

Home of Champion Athletes

The Arrillaga Family Sports Center, which opened in January of 1994, is the home of the Stanford Athletic Department. Funded by the gifts of 23 donors, the Arrillaga Family Sports Center is a state-of-the-art facility that helps give Stanford one of the finest athletic facilities in the country. Included in the Arrillaga Family Sports Center are Athletic Department administrative and coaching staff offices, an indoor basketball practice court, a Hall of Fame Room, football locker room, a recreation locker room, a wrestling/martial arts room, a sports medicine center, a 16,000 square foot weight training facility, a dining room which is open to the public and used for student-athlete training table, a conference center and other ancillary facilities.

Visitors to the Athletic Hall of Fame will see a complete list of all Hall of Fame members, historical displays of Stanford's athletic teams and a trophy case which houses all of Stanford's NCAA championship trophies.

Named areas in the Sports Center include the John and Kathy Kissick Auditorium; the Howie Dallmar Basketball Court, given by Glenn and Pauline DeKraker; the Phillip H. and Penelope P. Knight Sports Medicine Center; the Forman Family Athletic Director's Suite; the Weintz Wrestling and Martial Arts Room and the Sydney and Theodore Rosenberg Stanford Athletic Hall of Fame Room.

Stanford Athletic Facilities

Stanford University is home to some of the finest athletic facilities in the nation. Student-athletes at Stanford can use the latest and most up-to-date strength and training technology while competing in some of the country's top facilities.

Stanford football players utilize four practice fields, a state-of-the-art training room and a weight training facility that covers over 10,000 square feet.

Stanford athletes enjoy access to the most modern and up-to-date equipment and technology available in the field of Strength and Conditioning. Cardinal football players train in a 10,000 square foot state-of-the-art facility located in the Arrillaga Family Sports Center. The Varsity Weight Room, renovated during the summer of 2002, is the strength and conditioning home to Stanford's 34 intercollegiate sports programs. The Varsity Weight Room also has a fully equipped nutrition and supplement station, complete with everything an athlete may need in the way of recovery and carbohydrate replacement beverages and dietary supplements.

The four football practice fields include three natural turf fields and one AstroTurf field. The Sports Medicine Center, located in the Arrillaga Family Sports Center, is a 4,500 square foot training room that is one of the finest in college athletics. Current technologies in modalities and rehabilitation equipment and a full line of cardiovascular equipment are available to all student-athletes at Stanford. A Biodex Isokinetic Testing Device – designed to test any joint in the body for strength, power and muscular endurance – a hydrotherapy room and a physicians clinic are also part of this outstanding sports medicine facility.

Many athletic facilities at Stanford are considered among the best in the country, including Sunken Diamond, home of Stanford baseball, Maples Pavilion, home to Cardinal basketball and volleyball, among others, the Avery Aquatics Complex, where NCAA champions and future Olympians train, Cobb Track & Angell Field and the Taube Family Tennis Stadium, home to 30 national championship trophies.

On October 1, 1891, the 465 new students who were on hand for opening day ceremonies at Leland Stanford Junior University greeted Leland and Jane Stanford enthusiastically, with a chant they had made up and rehearsed only that morning. Wah-hoo! Wah-hoo! L-S-J-U! Stanford! Its wild and spirited tone symbolized the excitement of this bold adventure. As a pioneer faculty member recalled, "Hope was in every heart, and the presiding spirit of freedom prompted us to dare greatly."

For the Stanford's on that day, the university was the realization of a dream and a fitting tribute to the memory of their only son, who had died of typhoid fever weeks before his sixteenth birthday. Far from the nation's center of culture and unencumbered by tradition or ivy, the new university drew students from all over the country: many from California; some who followed professors hired from other colleges and universities; and some simply seeking adventure in the West. Though there were many difficulties during the first months – housing was inadequate, microscopes and books were late in arriving from the East – the first year foretold greatness. As Jane Stanford wrote in the summer of 1892, "Even our fondest hopes have been realized."

Stanford University The University at a Glance

Ideas of "Practical Education"

Governor and Mrs. Stanford had come from families of modest means and had built their way up through a life of hard work. So it was natural that their first thoughts were to establish an institution where young men and women could "grapple successfully with the practicalities of life." As their thoughts matured, these ideas of "practical education" enlarged to the concept of producing cultured and useful citizens who were well-prepared for professional success.

More than one hundred years later, the university still enjoys the original 8,180 acres (almost 13 square miles) of grassy fields, eucalyptus groves, and rolling hills that were the Stanfords' generous legacy, as well as the Quadrangle of "long corridors with their stately pillars" at the center of campus. It is still true, as the philosopher William James said, during his stint as a visiting professor, that the climate is "so friendly ... that every morning wakes one fresh for new amounts of work."

Current Perspectives

In other ways, the university has changed tremendously on its way to recognition as one of the world's great universities. At the hub of a vital and diverse Bay Area, Stanford is an hour's drive south of San Francisco and just a few miles north of the Silicon Valley, an area dotted with computer and high technology firms largely spawned by the university's faculty and graduates. On campus, students and faculty enjoy new libraries, modern laboratories, sports facilities, and comfortable residences. Contemporary sculpture, as well as pieces from the Stanford Museum's extensive collection of sculpture by Auguste Rodin, is placed throughout the campus, providing unexpected pleasures at many turns. At the Stanford Medical Center, world-renowned for its research, teaching, and patient care, scientists and physicians are searching for answers to fundamental questions about health and disease. Ninety miles down the coast, at Stanford's Hopkins Marine Station on the Monterey Bay, scientists are working to better understand the mechanisms of evolution, human development, and ecological systems.

The university is organized into seven schools: Earth Sciences, Education, Engineering, the Graduate School of Business, Humanities and Sciences, Law and Medicine. In addition, there are more than 30 interdisciplinary centers, programs, and research laboratories – including the Hoover Institution on War, Revolution and Peace; the Institute for International Studies; the Stanford Linear Accelerator Center; and the Stanford Center for the Study of Families, Children and Youth – where faculty from a wide range of fields bring different perspectives to bear on issues and problems. Stanford's Overseas Studies Program offers students in all fields remarkable opportunities for study abroad, with campuses in Paris, Kyoto, Santiago, Berlin, Oxford, Florence, and Moscow.

Stanford People

By any measure, Stanford's faculty – which numbers approximately 1,700 – is one of the most distinguished in the nation. It includes 17 Nobel laureates, 4 Pulitzer Prize winners, 21 National Medal of Science winners, 124 members of the National Academy of Sciences, 219 members of the American Academy of Arts and Sciences, 83 members of the National Academy of Engineering, and 24 members of the National Academy of Education. Yet beyond their array of honors, what truly distinguishes Stanford faculty is their commitment to sharing knowledge with their students. The great majority of professors teach undergraduates both in introductory lecture classes and in small advanced seminars.

Currently 13,900 students, of which 6,500 are undergraduates, live and study on campus. About 40 percent come from California, but all 50 states and approximately 100 countries are represented as well. Among undergraduates, 44 percent are African American, Asian American, Hispanic or Native American. Like the faculty, the Stanford student body is distinguished. Approximately 10 students apply to Stanford for every place in the freshman class. Seventy-six Stanford students have been named Rhodes Scholars and 52 have been named Marshall Scholars. Nearly 90 percent of graduating seniors plan to attend graduate or professional schools. Stanford students also shine in a tremendous array of activities outside the classroom – from student government to music, theater, and journalism. Through the Haas Center for Public Service, students participate in dozens of community service activities, such as tutoring programs for children in nearby East Palo Alto, the Hunger Project, and the Arbor Free Clinic.

In the athletic arena, Stanford students have enjoyed tremendous success as well. Stanford fields teams in 34 Division I varsity sports – equally divided between men's and women's teams. Of Stanford's 95 national team titles, 43 have been captured since 1990, by far the most in the nation. Thirty-eight of Stanford's athletes and coaches participated in the 1992 Olympics in Barcelona, 49 competed in Atlanta at the 1996 Games and 34 represented Stanford at the 2000 Games in Sydney – by far the most of any university in the nation. Intramural and club sports are also popular; over 1,000 students take part in the club sports program, while participation in the intramural program has reached 9,000, with many students active in more than one sport.

Looking Ahead

In her address to the Board of Trustees, in 1904, Jane Stanford said, "... Let us not be afraid to outgrow old thoughts and ways, and dare to think on new lines as to the future of the work under our care." Her thoughts echo in the words of former Stanford President Gerhard Casper, who has said, "The true university must reinvent itself every day ... At Stanford, these are days of such reconsideration and fresh support for our fundamental tasks – teaching, learning, and research."

Stanford University still enjoys the original 8,100 acres of grassy fields, eucalyptus groves, and rolling hills that were the Stanfords' generous legacy.

Catcher Ryan Garko hit over .400 to lead Stanford to its third College World Series title game in four years.

Stanford Athletics Home of Champions

No other athletic department in the country can boast of the kind of success that Stanford has accomplished.

"Home of Champions." Those are the bywords for the Stanford University Athletic Department.

And for good reason. No athletic department in the country can boast of the kind of success that Stanford has accomplished since the 1980s. NCAA team champions. NCAA individual champions. Olympic medalists. Stanford University athletes have been all over the world capturing championships.

The statistics speak for themselves: Stanford University has won 68 NCAA team championships since 1980, the most in the nation; Cardinal athletes have won 45 NCAA championships since 1990 – again the most in the nation. Stanford has brought home 23 NCAA championship trophies the past six years, including an unprecedented six NCAA team titles in 1996-97. In 1991-92, Stanford athletes took home 29 individual NCAA titles – an NCAA record. Cardinal athletes won 21 individual championships during the 1992-93 season, the second most in history.

Even more impressive is Stanford's string of nine consecutive Directors' Cup titles (1995-03). The award honors the nation's top overall athletic program and with nine straight #1 finishes, it's no wonder Stanford is considered the dominant athletic program in the nation.

Stanford captured its ninth straight Directors' Cup in 2002-03 with 1420.5 points, winning the honor by 326.5 points over second place Texas. The Cardinal won a total of two NCAA team crowns with championships in men's water polo and cross country. The Cardinal added second place national finishes in baseball, women's volleyball, men's soccer, women's cross country, women's tennis, women's water polo and synchronized swimming. A total of 13 Stanford teams finished among the nation's Top Five and 24 among the Top 10, and 28 among the Top 25. The Cardinal also picked up nine individual NCAA titles and 12 team conference championships.

Stanford has now won at least one NCAA team championship for 26 straight years. Cardinal teams have also won four or more NCAA team titles in a single year nine times, an NCAA best.

All totaled, Stanford has won 95 collegiate team titles (85 NCAA championships) and 376 NCAA individual titles. Cardinal women have won an NCAA-best 29 team championships while men's teams have captured 56 NCAA team titles, third best in the nation. Overall, Stanford's 85 NCAA team championships rank second in the nation.

In the last 10 years (since 1993-94), Stanford has claimed 35 national team championships and 32 NCAA team titles – the best in the country.

In 2000-01, Stanford won an NCAA Team Championship in women's tennis and had 15 teams finish in the top five nationally. The Cardinal also had 20 teams place among the top 10 and 26 among the top 25, to go along with 14 individual national champions and 12 conference titles. Stanford finished with 1,359 points in the Sears Directors' Cup standings to easily outdistance runner-up UCLA's 1,138.

In 1999-2000, Stanford won the Sears Director's Cup by a wide margin for the sixth consecutive year. Stanford won team championships in men's tennis – its 18th overall in that sport – and men's track and field while placing second nationally in six other sports (baseball, women's volleyball, men's water polo, synchronized swimming, women's tennis and women's golf).

In 1999-2000, Stanford's football team won the Pacific-10 Conference championship and played in the Rose Bowl for the first time in 28 years while the men's basketball team earned a No. 1 seed in the NCAA Tournament, tied for the conference title, finished 27-4 overall and held the nation's No. 1 ranking during the season. The Cardinal baseball team followed by sharing the Pac-

10 crown and advancing to the College World Series, marking the first time in history that a school won Pac-10 championships in football, men's basketball and baseball in the same year.

Stanford has also enjoyed unequalled success in Olympic competition.

At the 2000 Summer Games in Sydney, Australia, Stanford University was represented by a total of 34 athletes and coaches. The Cardinal contingent won a total of 10 medals – four gold, three silver and three bronze.

At the 1996 Games in Atlanta, Stanford again placed 49 coaches and athletes on Olympic Teams, including three head United States Olympic coaches (Tara VanDerveer, women's basketball; Richard Quick, women's swimming; Skip Kenney, men's swimming). Stanford athletes accounted for 16 gold medals, one silver and one bronze in Atlanta.

At the 1992 Games in Barcelona, Cardinal athletes earned 19 medals – 10 gold, four silver and five bronze. If Stanford were a country, it would've placed 13th in the world with its 19 medals and ninth with 10 golds. Thirty-eight Stanford-affiliated athletes and coaches participated in Barcelona while 41 members of the Cardinal family took part in the 1988 Olympic Games in Seoul, Korea.

National titles have become quite commonplace in the Stanford Athletic Department. In 1996-97, Cardinal teams set an NCAA record by winning six NCAA team championships in a single academic year: men's and women's cross country, men's and women's volleyball and men's and women's tennis. Nine other teams finished in the Top Four nationally, including second place finishes in women's swimming, men's swimming, men's water polo and women's synchronized swimming. Stanford also posted third place finishes in women's basketball, baseball and fencing, as well as fourth place finishes in women's golf and women's water polo.

The 1996-97 school year also saw the Cardinal football team advance to the Sun Bowl, the 18th bowl game in school history, the women's basketball team return to the Final Four, the baseball team qualify for the College World Series and the men's basketball team advance to the Sweet Sixteen of the NCAA Tournament for the first time since it won the 1942 NCAA title.

The following year (1997-98) Stanford won NCAA team titles in men's cross country, women's volleyball, men's swimming, women's swimming and men's tennis along with a U.S. Collegiate title in synchronized swimming. Also, 14 teams finished among the nation's Top Five, 19 in the Top 10 and 22 in the Top 20. Other teams finishing among the Top Five nationally included men's basketball, which made its first Final Four appearance in 56 years, women's tennis, men's water polo, women's water polo and fencing.

During the 1998-99 campaign, Stanford won one NCAA team title in women's tennis and one U.S. Collegiate Championship in synchronized swimming. Seven teams placed second in the nation, including men's cross country, men's soccer, men's swimming, women's swimming, men's track and field, men's water polo and women's water polo. Third place finishers included baseball, women's cross country and men's and women's fencing.

Cardinal teams also won 18 conference or regional championships in '98-99 – by far the best performance of any school in the nation. Stanford has now won 149 conference or regional titles since 1991, again the best in the country.

Not only has the Cardinal won an NCAA record six NCAA team championships in a single season (1996-97), but it has also won five NCAA titles in a single year on three occasions: 1991-92, '94-95 and '97-98. Cardinal teams have won four championships in a single academic year on five occasions: 1985-86, '86-87, '92-93, '93-94 and 2001-02.

Stanford has simply dominated in several sports. Under head coach Dick Gould, the Cardinal men's tennis team has won 17 NCAA titles while the women's team has hauled in 13 national titles. The men's swimming program has won eight NCAA team championships, seven under current head coach Skip Kenney while the men's water polo team has captured 11 national titles.

The Cardinal women's swimming team has won nine national titles, seven under current head coach Richard Quick. Quick has been the head coach for the United States Olympic Swimming teams in 1988 (Soul), 1996 (Atlanta) and 2000 (Sydney.) Tara VanDerveer, the 1996 United States Olympic Head Women's Basketball Coach, has led the Cardinal to two NCAA championships and five appearances in the Final Four.

Baseball coach Mark Marquess, who was the head coach of the gold medal winning 1988 United States Olympic baseball team, led the Cardinal to back-to-back College World Series titles in 1987 and '88. Former men's gymnastics coach Sadao Hamada led the Cardinal to three NCAA championships, now men's volleyball coach Don Shaw guided the Stanford women's volleyball program to four NCAA titles in the 1990s and current head women's volleyball coach John Dunning guided the Cardinal to an NCAA title in his first season in 2001. Former men's golf coach

All-American Tony Azevedo, under first-year head coach John Vargas, led Stanford to its 10th NCAA Water Polo Championship.

Wally Goodwin led his team to the NCAA title in 1994, the first men's golf title at Stanford since 1953. Vin Lananna joined the championship parade in 1996 by leading both his men's and women's cross country teams to national titles. He came back in 1997 to lead his men's cross country team to another NCAA title and in 2000, his men's track and field team won the first national championship in track at Stanford since 1934. Lananna also led the men's cross country program to the 2003 NCAA Championship.

Olympic gold medalists are numerous on The Farm. Former Cardinal standout Bob Mathias won back-to-back Olympic decathlon gold medals in 1948 and '52 while swimmers Pablo Morales, Jenny Thompson, Summer Sanders, Janet Evans and Misty Hyman have become household names in the swimming world.

Morales, who helped Stanford win three straight NCAA team championships (1985-87), won three medals at the '84 Games in Los Angeles (one gold, two silver) and two more gold medals at the '92 Games in Barcelona. Evans won three golds in the '88 Games in Seoul and one gold and one silver in Barcelona, while Sanders won four medals in Barcelona; two gold, one silver and one bronze. Thompson is the most decorated athlete in Olympic history with eight gold medals, a silver and a bronze. Hyman added her name to the list of Stanford swimming greats by winning the 2000 Olympic Gold Medal in the 200 meter butterfly to pull off one of the biggest upsets of the Sydney Olympiad.

Some of the great student-athletes in Stanford history include Tiger Woods and Tom Watson (golf), John McEnroe, Roscoe Tanner and Tim Mayotte (men's tennis), Kim Oden and Kristin Klein (women's volleyball), Kristin Folk (basketball/volleyball), Jack McDowell and Mike Mussina (baseball), Julie Foudy (women's soccer), Hank Luisetti, Brevin Knight and Mark Madsen (men's basketball), Jennifer Azzi and Kate Starbird (women's basketball), Jim Plunkett, John Elway and Troy Walters (football), Debi Thomas (figure skating), Eric Heiden (speed skating) and the great Ernie Nevers (football), to name a few.

It's no wonder Stanford University is often referred to as the "NCAA's Champion of Champions."
