Bret Simon

Head Coach
Fifth Year

In his four years at the helm, head coach Bret Simon has taken the Stanford men's soccer program to an unprecedented level of success. Simon piloted the Cardinal to consecutive College Cup appearances in his first two seasons on The Farm, including a trip to the championship game in 2002. Prior to Simon's arrival, Stanford had reached the College Cup just once when the Cardinal fell to Indiana in the 1998 finals. Entering his fourth season on The Farm in 2004, Simon has a 47-28-10 overall record and is 13-18-5 in Pac-10 play.

The Cardinal finished the 2004 campaign with a 7-6-5 overall and a 2-4-2 mark in Pac-10 play with Simon at the helm, narrowly missing out on postseason selection.

After experiencing great success in his first two seasons in charge of Stanford men's soccer, the Cardinal were hindered by injuries and inexperience in 2003 as they posted a program-low three wins. Simon leaned heavily on a highly touted freshman class throughout the season.

Simon avoided any sort of sophomore jinx when his 2002 club finished with an 18-5-2 overall record on its way to an NCAA runner-up finish. Simon, who was a semifinalist for Regional Coach of the Year, led a hot team to four straight NCAA Tournament victories and six consecutive wins overall late in the campaign to reach the national championship game versus UCLA.

In his rookie season at Stanford in 2001, Simon garnered two Coach of the Year honors when he was named the NSCAA/adidas Far West Regional Coach of the Year and Pac-10 Coach of the Year after leading the Cardinal to its first Pac-10 championship. Simon guided Stanford to its best overall record ever (19-2-1) as the club advanced to its second College Cup in program history and made its fifth consecutive NCAA Tournament appearance.

Simon, the first coach to lead two different schools to the men's College Cup, has posted a 140-39-17 (.781) overall record in his nine seasons as a Division I head coach. He achieved his milestone 100th career win in his first season with the Cardinal, a 3-1 triumph over Cal State Fullerton on September 9, 2001.

Simon, who was the head coach at Creighton for six seasons before coming to Stanford, guided the Bluejays to the most successful season in school history in 2000 with a 22-4-0 overall record and a second trip to the College Cup in five years. A member of the men's soccer staff at Creighton for eight years, Simon finished his sixth season as the program's head coach with the 2000 College Cup national championship match. The team's appearance in the NCAA championship match was the first by any Bluejay athletic squad in school history. A four-time conference Coach of the Year honoree, Simon led Creighton to four postseason Missouri Valley Conference tournament championships, a pair of MVC regular-season titles and six NCAA Tournament appearances. Simon won 96 games at the school, which ranks second on the Bluejays' all time list.

After taking over the head coaching duties from Bob Warming on July 27, 1995, Simon guided the Bluejays to a 14-3-1 record and a sweep of the MVC regular-season and tournament titles. Simon followed up his first season success by leading the 1996 Bluejays to a 17-5-2 record, the MVC regular season championship and a trip to the NCAA College Cup. After the Bluejays swept through the MVC with a 5-0-0 record, Simon was voted the league's Co-Coach of the Year. In 1998, Simon's Bluejays produced a 16-4-2 record, reclaimed the MVC Tournament title and advanced to the third round of the NCAA Tournament, defeating both rival Saint Louis and defending national champion UCLA on the road. His 1999 squad recorded an 11-5-2 mark, finished second in the MVC and made its eighth straight trip to the NCAA Tournament.

Simon was an assistant with Creighton for two seasons before assuming the role of head coach.

A 1980 graduate of Massachusetts at Amherst, Simon earned his Master's degree in business administration with an emphasis in marketing and management from Berry College in 1982. During a 13-year tenure at Berry, Simon was involved in numerous aspects of the athletic department including coaching, teaching and serving as the director of athletics.

Simon and the former Pam Gradoville, a member of the Creighton Athletic Hall of Fame for her successes on the basketball court, were married May 11, 1996. The couple has two sons, Benjamin and Jacob.

Matt Stimson

Assistant Coach
Fifth Year

Matt Stimson enters his fifth season as an assistant coach for the Stanford men's soccer team.

Stimson came to Stanford in 2001 with current head coach Bret Simon after spending the 1999 and 2000 seasons as Simon's assistant at Creighton. In addition to his coaching duties with the Cardinal, Stimson is also the Assistant Director for Stanford Soccer Academies.

"There isn't a better assistant soccer coach in the country than Matt Stimson," said Simon. "He's involved in all aspects of our program - recruiting, training, administration. His work ethic and enthusiasm are two big parts of the engine that keep us going."

Stimson has helped lead Stanford to unprecedented success in recent years, including back-to-back College Cup appearances in 2001 and 2002. In their first season on The Farm, Stimson helped Simon coach the Cardinal to a 19-2-1 record and the program's first Pac-10 championship. The Cardinal advanced to the NCAA Championship game for just the second time in program history in 2002, falling just short of a national title.

In 2000, Stimson helped Simon lead Creighton to its most successful season in history. The Bluejays (22-4-0) earned a trip to the College Cup for the second time in five years, ending their season with a 2-0 loss to Connecticut in the championship match. The team's appearance in the NCAA championship contest was the first by any Creighton athletic squad in school history. Creighton finished second in the MVC regular season race and captured its fourth MVC Tournament title. The Bluejays also set the school's record for most wins in a season (22) after a 2-1 triple-overtime victory over two-time defending champion Indiana in the semifinal round of the College Cup.

In addition to his duties at Stanford, Stimson was the head coach of the Palo Alto Crew Under-18 boy's team, which was the Northern California State Cup runner-up in the spring of 2003. In 2002, he was on the Region IV ODP staff working with the boys 1988 age group. Stimson also created the Stanford Spring Soccer Academy for children ages 8-12. The academy runs one evening a week during the spring and fall.

Stimson served as head coach of the Nebraska State ODP Men's Open Under-23 squad for two years (1999-2000) and led the team to the Region II Championship in May of 1999. He holds a USSF "A" License and a NSCAA Premier Diploma. Stimson was also the 2001 California District #2 Amateur U-23 head coach.

Before joining the Bluejays staff, Stimson spent the 1998 season as the first assistant coach at Hartford. Prior to his stint with the Hawks, Stimson worked as a graduate assistant at Plymouth State College - a Division III school that was consistently nationally ranked. Previous to coaching at the collegiate level, Stimson was a public school physical education teacher, as well as a soccer and track and field coach for four years in Massachusetts and New Hampshire.

As a player, Stimson competed at Springfield College from 1989-92 and was the captain of the club his senior season. He also competed at the semi-pro level for the Gremio Lusitanos in Ludlow, Mass. Stimson received his Bachelor's of Science degree in physical education with a teachers' certification from Springfield College in December of 1993.

In May of 1998, he earned a Master's of Education in athletic and adventure education administration from Plymouth State College.

Stimson was married to the former Katie Kennedy of Palo Alto on July 26, 2003. They have a daughter named McKayli.

Tim Hanley

Goalkeeper Coach
Fourth Year

Tim Hanley begins his fourth season working with the Stanford men's soccer goalkeepers. In his 2002 rookie season with the Cardinal, Hanley coached Stanford goalkeeper Robby Fulton to a school record 0.43 GAA.

"Tim has been a fantastic addition to our program," said Stanford head coach Bret Simon. "He has a great rapport with the players and a complete knowledge of the sport, in addition to being a goalkeeping specialist."

Hanley is currently in his eighth season as the goalkeeper coach with the San Jose Earthquakes and his 22nd year of coaching overall. Hanley has had a great deal of success with the Earthquakes, helping coach the team to two MLS titles (2001 and 2003), serving on the MLS All-Star Game coaching staff (2002) and coaching Joe Cannon and Pat Onstad to MLS Goalkeeper of the Year honors in 2002 and 2003, respectively.

In addition, Hanley has been an assistant coach in both the professional A-League, as well as the Premier Development Soccer League. He has also coached many club teams that have competed in prestigious tournaments such as the Surf Cup (winners in 1999) and Dallas Cup, competing in the Super Group (1999-2000). He is currently working with an Under-17 girls team that plays out of the Stanford Soccer Club. Hanley is also active with the Positive Coaching Alliance.

Hanley had an outstanding playing career before entering coaching, participating in the North American Soccer League for the Tampa Bay Rowdies (1980) and the San Jose Earthquakes (1981, '83-84). He also had stints with the Hibernian Football Club (1982) in Scotland and the Servette of Suisse (1985) in Switzerland.

Hanley has two children, John (16) and Riley (12), and resides in Palo Alto.

Ryan Webb

Volunteer
Assistant Coach
Second Year

Ryan Webb begins his second season as a volunteer assistant coach with the Stanford men's soccer program. Webb, who will be primarily responsible for on-field coaching and tactical consultation, brings nearly a decade of coaching experience at the high school, club, and collegiate levels to the Stanford staff. Prior to coming to The Farm, Webb served as the Director of Coaching for the Clinton Futbol Club in his native Mississippi.

"We're very excited to have Ryan on our staff," said Stanford head coach Bret Simon. "He brings a tremendous amount of coaching experience and soccer knowledge to this position."

In his most recent collegiate position, Webb served as an assistant coach at Mississippi College in 2000 and 2002, helping the Choctaws become a force in the American Southwest Conference. He began his coaching career as the head coach at Tupelo High School (1996-97), and spent four years as a member of Mississippi's Olympic Development Program (1997-2000). He also spent two seasons as the head coach of the AFC Lightning youth soccer club in Atlanta (2001-2002), and assisted the coaching staff at the Clemson University summer soccer camp.

As a high school coach, Webb's teams compiled a 79-13-1 record and made a pair of appearances in the state tournament finals. He holds a "B" License from the United States Soccer Federation (USSF), and a National Diploma certification from the National Soccer Coaches Association of America (NSCAA).

Cardinal Look to Continue to Improve

The 2005 Stanford Men's Soccer Team looks to improve on a solid 2004 season, that featured a fast start, five ties, and many overtime or double overtime games. Last year was a tremendously improved season after the 2003 campaign in which the Cardinal managed only three wins. The team, under the direction of fifth-year head coach Bret Simon, bounced back in 2004 for some exciting battles, tallying a 7-6-5 record, and pushed several games past regulation.

Schedule

With an always formidable Pac-10 Conference schedule, the Cardinal look forward to meeting several new teams in 2005. Stanford will be challenged in 2005, with six of their 13 opponents having reached NCAA postseason play in 2004. The Cardinal will face Vanderbilt, Army, and UAB, all first-time opponents. They will also compete against familiar foes such as, San Jose State, UC Davis, San Francisco, Cal State Northridge, and Santa Clara before opening conference play with San Diego State looking to improve on a fourth place Pac-10 finish last year. Even though Stanford posted just two conference wins, three of the team's four losses were by one goal, and the final loss to California went into double overtime. Four of the six losses overall were by one goal. The men also battled through six games that featured double overtimes. The 2004 squad definitely received valuable experience in close games and hope to turn the corner and win the close matches, to propel them to their 11th NCAA tournament berth.

Class of 2005 (graduated seniors)

Stanford says goodbye to nine valuable players, eight of whom were starters in 2004. At the forward position, Darren Fernandez and Matt Janusz, were starters for most of their careers on The Farm. Fernandez and Janusz let the 2004 team with 18 and 10 points respectively. They were Stanford's top two scorers in 2003 as well, and among the top four in 2004. Fernandez was a four time all-conference selection and Janusz was tapped for all-conference honors twice during his career. Fernandez ranks tied for fifth all-time for career games played with 82. Certainly, the Cardinal will miss not only their offensive capabilities, but their leadership as well.

Two strong midfielder/defenders leave The Farm in Aaron Maines and Todd Leber. Maines was an All-Pac-10 second team pick and moved into fifth place all-time for games played with 83. Leber and Maines were both three-time Pac-10 all-academic team members. Both were selfless players that worked hard and lead by example.

Other losses come to the defense with the departure of James Twellman and Jason Griffiths. Twellman was a three-time All-Pac-10 pick during his career on The Farm and was a starter for most of his career. After spending three seasons at Middlebury College where he compiled 13 points, he transferred to Stanford and contributed a game-winning goal and great leadership on and off the field.

Stanford will certainly miss goalkeeper, Robby Fulton, who had a stellar career on The Farm. Fulton was plagued by injuries his senior year but managed to post a 1.43 GAA, record 43 saves and two shutouts. Not only was he a three-time All Pac-10 selection, he was Pac-10 All-Academic team selection in each of the three years he was eligible. He leaves Stanford ranked first all-time in single-season lowest GAA with 0.43 (2002), fifth in single-season shutouts with nine (2002), fifth in career minutes in goal with 4,090.85 minutes, and sixth in career saves with 161.

The team was also extremely fortunate to have a great senior goalkeeping backup in Spencer Porter. Spencer was a co-recipient of the team's Spirit Award and made an invaluable contribution to the team's success.

Seniors

The 2005 team will be lead by three outstanding seniors who have great experience under their belts. Head Coach Bret Simon and his coaching staff look to Cooper McKee, Bronson McDonald, and K.C. Coyne to guide the team.

McKee, a transfer from St. Louis University, is a midfielder who started all 18 games in 2004 and ranked contributed three total points. McKee also earned Pac-10 All-Conference second-team honors for last season's efforts.

Bronson McDonald is a midfielder/defender who also started all 18 games last season and brings the experience of 47 career games played to the table.

K.C. Coyne rounds out the senior class at the forward spot. Coyne tallied an assist in 14 games played in 2004 and has played in 27 games during his Cardinal campaign.

This senior class will undoubtedly help guide a young 2005 squad.

Juniors

Seven players make up the junior class who will be key to the 2005 Cardinal's success. Michael Brown, Bret Shimizu, Galen Thompson and Andrew Kartunen, played pivotal roles for last year's squad.

Brown started all 18 games as a midfielder/defender and tallied one assist while working his way onto the Pac-10 All-Conference honorable mention squad. He has already played in 36 games for the Cardinal in just two years.

Midfielder, Shimizu, and midfielder/defender, Thompson each played in 17 games with Thompson garnering eight starts. Thompson placed second on the team in goals with two and third on the team in points with five while Shimizu recorded two points. Shimizu and Thompson have played in 35 and 37 games respectively during their Stanford tenure.

Goalkeeper, Andrew Kartunen had a fantastic 2004. He started and played in seven games for Bret Simon and his staff while recording a miniscule GAA of 0.28 with 25 saves and five shutouts. Kartunen will definitely keep the team in good hands with his goalkeeping and save ability after coming off a successful stint with the U.S. Under-20 National Team.

Stanford also returns three redshirt sophomores in Kyle Hency, Stephen Ringer, and Marcus Ryan who all battled through injuries, causing them to take medical redshirts.

Midfielder/defender Bronson McDonald started all 18 games last season.

The Cardinal look to improve on a solid 2004 season that featured a fast start, five ties, and many overtime or double overtime games.

Hency, another midfielder/defender, sat out his first season while recovering from a broken leg, and continued the long road to recovery with two late season appearances.

Ringer and Ryan both had fantastic freshman campaigns before injuries forced them out in 2004. Ryan, a midfielder, played in all 20 games in 2003, starting 18, and scoring four points. Ringer, another versatile player, who can play either forward or midfielder, played in 15 games in 2003. This class will have a huge impact on the 2005 team, and will be a force to be reckoned with.

Sophomores

The sophomores are a strong class who shined as freshmen in 2004. It features defenders, Luke Sager and Mark Bartlett, Scott Bolkan, Ryan Oblak, midfield/defenders Ryan Imamura and Enrique Allen, midfielder/forwards, Evan Morgan, and Dan Shapiro.

Sager and Allen did redshirt the 2004 season, but come into 2005 with a year of valuable work that will help this class reach its outstanding ability.

Sager will look to be an impact player in 2005 and Bartlett will pull from his 12 games and six starts in 2004 for strength this year.

Scott Bolkan, like Bartlett, played in 12 games, making seven starts, which will help him emerge as a key defender in 2005.

Ryan Imamura is a transfer player from Cornell University who will add to the list of multi-positional players who will compete for playing time immediately.

Oblak, and Allen round out the sophomore midfielder/defenders, both looking to contribute in 2005 after outstanding spring seasons.

Midfielder Evan Morgan and forward Dan Shapiro also give this class a great outlook in '05 with their 15 and 16 games played respectively. Shapiro started five of 16 games played and scored a goal in his first year of play, while Morgan added a goal of his own. These players may be young, but have a great amount of talent and experience to bring into their sophomore years.

Freshmen

Stanford's freshmen class will help the Cardinal round out its strong roster. The College Soccer New publication ranked this group the 25th best freshmen class nationally. It features seven players and includes plenty of talent and versatility. The 2005 season will introduce freshmen Michael Alexander, Tim Jones, Alex Kozachenko, Tunji Munabi, Josh Nesbit, T.J. Novak and Brent Stewart.

Alexander, a defender/midfielder hails from Sarasota, Florida where he attended Sarasota High School. He earned all-state honors as well as being named a NSCAA Scholar Athlete All-American. He set a school record in soccer, scoring 29 goals in 2005.

Tim Jones is a defender/midfielder from Lawranceville, Georgia where he attended Collins Hill High School. Tim was an offensive standout as a defender at Collins, where he earned all-county and all-state honors. He also competed for AFC Lightning Premier 87 and earned NSCAA/Adidas All-American honors.

Alex Kozachenko, a forward/midfielder was a four-year letterwinner at Mission San Jose High School in Fremont, Calif. He was a first-team all-league selection his junior and senior seasons and was tabbed the Umbro Super-Y-League Final MVP in 2002.

Tunji Munabi, a forward was a three sport athlete at St. Paul's School in New Hampshire where he captained all three squads his senior year.

Nesbit attended Loudoun Valley High School in Purcellville, Va., earning all-conference and all-state awards. This well-traveled goalkeeper played for D.C. United Youth, where he captured a USL national championship. Nesbit traveled Europe in 2003 with DC United Youth and also trained with the English professional club, Coventry City's Youth Academy in the summer of 2004.

Another player entering from east of the Mississippi is T.J. Novak. Novak is a midfielder/defender from Fenton, Missouri who attended Rockwood Summit High School. He was all-conference, all-metro, all-state, and all-America throughout his career and also captured the state player of the year honor and Missouri Gatorade Player of the Year honor in 2004. He posted 34 career goals in high school.

Yet another different state is represented by freshmen goalkeeper Brent Stewart. Stewart is from Dallas, Texas where he captained his soccer squad from 2003 to 2004 at St. Mark's School of Texas. This team MVP also competed for the Dallas Texans Soccer Club, who were national champions this summer and finished third at the 2003 Youth National Championship. Stewart will compete for time at goal with another freshman goalkeeper, Josh Nesbit.

The Cardinal's four classes make up a solid mix of seasoned veterans and talented newcomers. With spirits high and the team focused on their goals, the Stanford men's soccer team looks to be a frontrunner for postseason honors in 2005.

Midfielder Cooper McKee was a Second-Team Pac-10 All-Conference selection in 2004.

Forward K.C. Coyne recorded 14 assists in 14 games in 2004.

Stanford will have a tough schedule in 2005, with six of their 13 opponents having reached NCAA postseason play in 2004.

SCHOLARSHIP FUNDING

Two sources provide scholarship funds for Stanford's student-athletes: the Athletic Department's scholarship endowment and the Buck/Cardinal Club.

The Buck/Cardinal Club

Nearly $3 million is raised annually in scholarship funds through the gifts of the Club's 6,000 members. Over 250 volunteers assist the Athletic Department in its annual fund raising efforts.

The Buck/Cardinal Annual Scholarships:

The Bill and Barbara Breuner Scholarship ..... Galen Thompson
The Chiles Foundation Scholarship ..... T. J. Novak

Endowed Scholarships

Endowed scholarships are large sums of money that have been invested in the University's endowment and generate significant interest income each year. A portion of the income is spent on student aid and the remainder is reinvested in the principal. The following endowed scholarships, named for the donor or for someone the donor wishes to honor, provide full or partial grants-in-aid to members of the 2005 men's soccer team:

The John Arrillaga Family Scholarship ..... Michael Alexander, Cooper McKee and Luke Sagar
The Tito and Cameron Bianchi Scholarship ..... K.C. Coyne
The Forman Family Scholarship ..... Marcus Ryan
The Louis W. and Gladyce L. Foster Scholarship ..... Mark Bartlett
The Clarke and Elizabeth Nelson Scholarship ..... Scott Bolkan and Kyle Hency
The George J. Presley Honors Memorial Scholarship ..... Bronson McDonald
The Forrest N. and Patricia K. Shumway Scholarship ..... Daniel Shapiro

Stanford Makes Marked Improvements

After a disappointing 2003 campaign, the Stanford men's soccer team made marked improvement with a 7-6-5 overall record during the 2004 season. Darren Fernandez and Matt Janusz paced the team, combining for 12 goals. Fernandez led the squad with eight goals on the year including four game-winners. Janusz checked in with four goals.

The Cardinal said goodbye to seven seniors in '04: Robby Fulton, James Twellman, Todd Leber, Aaron Maines, Jason Griffiths, Matt Janusz and Darren

Fernandez. All were key contributors to the team success and their leadership will be missed.

Stanford opened up the season with a 5-0-1 record, including four shutout victories during that span. After a 0-0 double overtime tie to Tulsa, the Cardinal strung together five consecutive wins over SMU, San Jose State, San Diego, UC Irvine and Cal State Fullerton. The first loss of the season came at the hands of Santa Clara. During the next five games Stanford recorded one win and four double overtime ties as they began conference play. The Cardinal struggled in mid and late October going 1-3 before picking up a win against Oregon State with Janusz scoring both goals. November also proved to be a tough month as Stanford closed out the regular season with a double overtime loss to California.

Eight Stanford men's soccer players were tabbed for All-Pac-10 recognition in '05. Forward Darren Fernandez was named to the All-Pac-10 First Team following an outstanding senior campaign. Junior Cooper McKee and senior Matt Janusz earned second team accolades, while Robby Fulton, Aaron Maines, James Twellman, Seyi Abolaji, and Michael Brown were named as honorable mention selections. The Cardinal also excelled in the classroom as 11 student-athletes were honored as Pac-10 All-Academic selections. Robby Fulton, Todd Leber, and James Twellman garnered first team recognition, while Matt Janusz, Andrew Kartunen, Bronson McDonald, and Bret Shimizu were named to the second team. Seyi Abolaji, Michael Brown, Aaron Maines, and Galen Thompson received honorable mention honors. In addition, Twellman was selected to the CoSIDA Academic All-District VIII team. It marked the second straight selection for the senior.

Maloney Field Home of Championship Soccer

Maloney Field has been the venue for a number of international and professional soccer events.

The newly renovated Maloney Field serves as home to the Stanford men's and women's soccer programs. Completed in 1997, the field has also played host to numerous collegiate, professional and international events, including the Women's World Cup in the summer of 1999, when Maloney Field was used as a practice field.

Phase I of the renovation was completed in 1997, and included the upgrade of the playing surface and the installation of temporary seating. The 115' X 76' game field is adjacent to practice fields measuring 160' X 120'.

The second phase of the upgrade was completed during the 1998 season. Phase II featured the installation of 80-foot high light poles around the perimeter of the field, making it possible to host night competition in accordance to NCAA standards. The lights are part of Musco Light's top of the line TLC (Total Light Control) system. Permanent seating was also installed on the west side of the field, increasing the capacity to approximately 2,000 spectators. The bleachers are precast concrete in two sections, with an entry plaza between them. A new Daktronics scoreboard and message center were also added to complete the field. Enhanced landscaping and completing of Maloney Plaza link the facility to the rest of the Stanford Sports Complex.

Since the renovation of the facility, Stanford has been selected to host the second, third and quarterfinal NCAA Tournament matches in 2002 and 2001; first, second and third round matches in 2000, first and second round matches in 1998, and 2001, and a first round match in 1999. Temporary bleachers were added, and the games drew large crowds to watch some of the best teams in collegiate soccer compete.

Since the 1997 season, the Cardinal men have posted a 54-11-5 (.807) record in the facility, while the women have compiled a 51-17-5 (.733) mark.

Maloney Field has also been the venue for the U.S. National Teams, a number of international and professional soccer events, the Mexican Women's National Team and the local San Jose Earthquakes of Major League Soccer.

On October 1, 1891, the 465 new students who were on hand for opening day ceremonies at Leland Stanford Junior University greeted Leland and Jane Stanford enthusiastically, with a chant they had made up and rehearsed only that morning. Wah-hoo! Wah-hoo! L-S-J-U! Stanford! Its wild and spirited tone symbolized the excitement of this bold adventure. As a pioneer faculty member recalled, "Hope was in every heart, and the presiding spirit of freedom prompted us to dare greatly."

For the Stanford's on that day, the university was the realization of a dream and a fitting tribute to the memory of their only son, who had died of typhoid fever weeks before his sixteenth birthday. Far from the nation's center of culture and unencumbered by tradition or ivy, the new university drew students from all over the country: many from California; some who followed professors hired from other colleges and universities; and some simply seeking adventure in the West. Though there were many difficulties during the first months – housing was inadequate, microscopes and books were late in arriving from the East – the first year foretold greatness. As Jane Stanford wrote in the summer of 1892, "Even our fondest hopes have been realized."

Stanford University The University at a Glance

Ideas of "Practical Education"

Governor and Mrs. Stanford had come from families of modest means and had built their way up through a life of hard work. So it was natural that their first thoughts were to establish an institution where young men and women could "grapple successfully with the practicalities of life." As their thoughts matured, these ideas of "practical education" enlarged to the concept of producing cultured and useful citizens who were well-prepared for professional success.

More than one hundred years later, the university still enjoys the original 8,180 acres (almost 13 square miles) of grassy fields, eucalyptus groves, and rolling hills that were the Stanfords' generous legacy, as well as the Quadrangle of "long corridors with their stately pillars" at the center of campus. It is still true, as the philosopher William James said, during his stint as a visiting professor, that the climate is "so friendly ... that every morning wakes one fresh for new amounts of work."

Current Perspectives

In other ways, the university has changed tremendously on its way to recognition as one of the world's great universities. At the hub of a vital and diverse Bay Area, Stanford is an hour's drive south of San Francisco and just a few miles north of the Silicon Valley, an area dotted with computer and high technology firms largely spawned by the university's faculty and graduates. On campus, students and faculty enjoy new libraries, modern laboratories, sports facilities, and comfortable residences. Contemporary sculpture, as well as pieces from the Stanford Museum's extensive collection of sculpture by Auguste Rodin, is placed throughout the campus, providing unexpected pleasures at many turns. At the Stanford Medical Center, world-renowned for its research, teaching, and patient care, scientists and physicians are searching for answers to fundamental questions about health and disease. Ninety miles down the coast, at Stanford's Hopkins Marine Station on the Monterey Bay, scientists are working to better understand the mechanisms of evolution, human development, and ecological systems.

The university is organized into seven schools: Earth Sciences, Education, Engineering, the Graduate School of Business, Humanities and Sciences, Law and Medicine. In addition, there are more than 30 interdisciplinary centers, programs, and research laboratories – including the Hoover Institution on War, Revolution and Peace; the Institute for International Studies; the Stanford Linear Accelerator Center; and the Stanford Center for the Study of Families, Children and Youth – where faculty from a wide range of fields bring different perspectives to bear on issues and problems. Stanford's Overseas Studies Program offers students in all fields remarkable opportunities for study abroad, with campuses in Paris, Kyoto, Santiago, Berlin, Oxford, Florence, and Moscow.

Stanford People

By any measure, Stanford's faculty – which numbers approximately 1,700 – is one of the most distinguished in the nation. It includes 16 Nobel laureates, 4 Pulitzer Prize winners, 21 National Medal of Science winners, 132 members of the National Academy of Sciences, 223 members of the American Academy of Arts and Sciences, 80 members of the National Academy of Engineering, and 23 members of the National Academy of Education. Yet beyond their array of honors, what truly distinguishes Stanford faculty is their commitment to sharing knowledge with their students. The great majority of professors teach undergraduates both in introductory lecture classes and in small advanced seminars.

Currently 13,900 students, of which 6,500 are undergraduates, live and study on campus. About 40 percent come from California, but all 50 states and approximately 100 countries are represented as well. Among undergraduates, 44 percent are African American, Asian American, Hispanic or Native American. Like the faculty, the Stanford student body is distinguished. Approximately 10 students apply to Stanford for every place in the freshman class. Eighty-four Stanford students have been named Rhodes Scholars, 66 have been named Marshall Scholars, and 48 have been named Truman Scholars. Nearly 90 percent of graduating seniors plan to attend graduate or professional schools. Stanford students also shine in a tremendous array of activities outside the classroom – from student government to music, theater, and journalism. Through the Haas Center for Public Service, students participate in dozens of community service activities, such as tutoring programs for children in nearby East Palo Alto, the Hunger Project, and the Arbor Free Clinic.

In the athletic arena, Stanford students have enjoyed tremendous success as well. Stanford fields teams in 34 Division I varsity sports – equally divided between men's and women's teams. Of Stanford's 101 national team titles, 50 have been captured since 1990, by far the most in the nation. Thirty-eight of Stanford's athletes and coaches participated in the 1992 Olympics in Barcelona, 49 competed in Atlanta at the 1996 Games, 34 represented Stanford at the 2000 Games in Sydney – by far the most of any university in the nation – and 42 Stanford athletes competed at the 2004 Games in Athens. Intramural and club sports are also popular; over 1,000 students take part in the club sports program, while participation in the intramural program has reached 9,000, with many students active in more than one sport.

Looking Ahead

In her address to the Board of Trustees, in 1904, Jane Stanford said, "... Let us not be afraid to outgrow old thoughts and ways, and dare to think on new lines as to the future of the work under our care." Her thoughts echo in the words of former Stanford President Gerhard Casper, who has said, "The true university must reinvent itself every day ... At Stanford, these are days of such reconsideration and fresh support for our fundamental tasks – teaching, learning, and research."

Stanford University still enjoys the original 8,100 acres of grassy fields, eucalyptus groves, and rolling hills that were the Stanfords' generous legacy.

Beyond the Campus San Francisco Bay Area

Gateway to the San Francisco Bay Area and Beyond

From bustling cosmopolitan cities to quiet coastal retreats, the San Francisco Bay Area is incomparable. First-class attractions, world-class athletics, cultural diversity, remarkable skylines and breathtaking views make this region one of the world's most popular destinations.

And at the hub of this great region is Stanford University, located within an hour's drive of San Francisco to the north, Silicon Valley to the south and the coastal cities which line the Pacific Ocean to the west.

San Francisco has been named the world's top city twice and the country's top city on seven occasions. Surrounded by three sides of the Pacific Ocean and San Francisco Bay, San Francisco's compact 46 square miles crowd the tip of the San Francisco Peninsula. "The City" has a population of 730,000 and is the centerpiece of the San Francisco Bay Area, which is the nation's fifth largest metropolitan region and registers a population of over six million and hosts over 16 million visitors each year.

The City is a cultural wonderland, an ethnic treasure chest where custom, tradition and history are preserved, celebrated and shared. From the vibrant counterculture in Haight-Ashbury to the young and glamorous tech survivors in their South of Market lofts, San Francisco is a golden dream come true.

Visitors and residents of San Francisco have a playground of diversity at their fingertips. Fisherman's Wharf, a must-see for all, includes waterfront marketplaces such as PIER 39, The Cannery and Ghiradelli Square. Golden Gate Park, Chinatown, North Beach, Union Square, Pacific Bell Park, the Embarcadero Center and, world famous cable cars and trolleys are just an example of what The City has to offer. The Golden Gate Bridge, San Francisco's signature landmark, looms as the gateway to the City by the Bay.

Just outside of the immediate Bay Area, Yosemite is a favorite destination.

San Francisco Bay is renown for excellent conditions for both boating and windsurfing.

Pebble Beach on the Monterey Peninsula near Carmel.

To the south of Stanford are Santa Clara and San Jose, the anchors to the Silicon Valley. Computer firms and software companies can be found throughout the region, which is considered the leader among the world's high technology industry. Lest you think that the valley is all business, though, spend a day at Paramount's Great America, delve into the wonders of technology at the Tech Museum of Innovation or explore the Winchester Mystery House.

One of the world's great stretches of coastline is located within a short drive from Stanford University. To the south is the Monterey Peninsula, which includes the picturesque coastal towns of Monterey, Carmel and Santa Cruz. The Monterey Bay Aquarium, Cannery Row and 17-Mile Drive along Pebble Beach are musts for visitors.

And if you bring your golf clubs, some of most famous golf courses can be found on the Monterey Peninsula, including Pebble Beach, Spyglass Hill and Cypress Point. The Beach Boardwalk, which features a historic wooden roller coaster, is located along the coast in Santa Cruz.

Further north along the coast is Half Moon Bay, Princeton-by-the-Bay, San Francisco and Marin County, located just across the Golden Gate Bridge. A short ferryboat ride past Alcatraz Island are the coastal towns of Tiburon, Larkspur and Sausalito.

A short drive north and east of Marin County gets you into the Napa Wine Country, home to dozens of well-known vintners. Within a few hours drive from the Bay Area is Lake Tahoe, home to some of the finest skiing in the country.

The Bay Area is also a mecca for some of the finest sports organizations in the nation. The Bay Area has two professional football teams (San Francisco 49ers, Oakland Raiders), two professional baseball teams (San Francisco Giants, Oakland A's), one professional soccer team (San Jose Earthquakes), one professional basketball team (Golden State Warriors) and one professional hockey team (San Jose Sharks)

Whether it's a cosmopolitan atmosphere, the cultural offerings of one of the great cities in the world, a visit to a coastal location, a trip to the Wine Country or skiing at Lake Tahoe, the San Francisco Bay Area remains one of the great destinations in the world today.

Stanford Athletics Home of Champions

“Home of Champions.” Those are the bywords for the Stanford University Athletic Department.

And for good reason. No athletic department in the country can boast of the kind of success that Stanford has accomplished since the 1980’s. NCAA team champions. NCAA individual champions. Olympic medalists. Stanford University athletes have been all over the world capturing championships.

The statistics speak for themselves: Stanford University has won 73 NCAA team championships since 1980, the most in the nation; Cardinal athletes have won 50 NCAA championships since 1990 – again the most in the nation. Stanford has brought home 29 NCAA championship trophies the past seven years, including an unprecedented six NCAA team titles in 1996-97. In 1991-92, Stanford athletes took home 29 individual NCAA titles – an NCAA record. Cardinal athletes won 21 individual championships during the 1992-93 season, the second most in history.

Even more impressive is Stanford’s string of 11 consecutive NACDA Directors’ Cup titles (1995-05). The award honors the nation’s top overall athletic program and with 11 straight victories in the competition, it is no wonder Stanford is considered the dominant athletic program in the nation.

Stanford captured its 11th straight Directors’ Cup in 2004-05. The Cardinal won a total of three national team crowns (two NCAA) in synchronized swimming (U.S. Collegiate), women’s tennis and women’s volleyball. Stanford had a total of 16 Top 10 finishes with lightweight crew, women’s cross country, men’s swimming, women’s swimming, men’s water polo and women’s water polo joining the national champions in the Top Five. The Cardinal also picked up nine individual national titles (seven NCAA) and 13 team conference championships.

Stanford has now won at least one NCAA team championship for 28 straight years. Cardinal teams have also won four or more NCAA team titles in a single year nine times, an NCAA best.

All totaled, Stanford has won 101 collegiate team titles (90 NCAA championships) and 391 NCAA individual titles. Cardinal women have won an NCAA-best 33 team championships while men’s teams have captured 57 NCAA team titles, third-best in the nation. Overall, Stanford’s 90 NCAA team championships rank second in the nation.

In the last 12 years (since 1993-94), Stanford has claimed 41 national team championships and 37 NCAA team titles – the best in the country.

The best athletic year in school history arguably came in 1996-97 when Cardinal teams set an NCAA record by winning six NCAA team championships in a single academic year: men’s and women’s cross country; men’s and women’s volleyball; and men’s and women’s tennis. Nine other teams finished in the Top Four nationally, including second-place finishes in women's swimming, men's swimming, men's water polo and women's synchronized swimming. Stanford also posted third-place finishes in women's basketball, baseball and fencing, as well as fourth place finishes in women's golf and women's water polo. In addition, the Stanford co-ed sailing team added a ICYRA national championship.

The 1996-97 school year also saw the Cardinal football team advance to the Sun Bowl, the women's basketball team return to the Final Four, the baseball team qualify for the College World Series and the men's basketball team advance to the Sweet Sixteen of the NCAA Tournament for the first time since it won the 1942 NCAA title.

Not only has the Cardinal won an NCAA record six NCAA team championships in a single season (1996-97), but it has also won five NCAA titles in a single year on three occasions: 1991-92, '94-95 and '97-98. Cardinal teams have won four championships in a single academic year on five occasions: 1985-86, '86-87, '92-93, '93-94 and 2001-02.

Stanford has won 173 conference or regional titles since 1991, again the best in the country. Cardinal teams won a record 18 conference or regional championships in 1998-99 - by far the best performance of any school in the nation.

Another memorable moment came in 1999-2000 when the Cardinal football, men's basketball and baseball teams won at least a share of their respective Pac-10 titles for the first time in school history.

Stanford has simply dominated in several sports. The Cardinal men's tennis team has won 17 NCAA titles while the women's squad has hauled in 15 national titles. Other programs to have brought in at least five national titles include men's water polo (11), women's swimming (9), men's swimming (8), men's golf (7) and women's volleyball (6).

Stanford has also enjoyed unequalled success in Olympic competition. Stanford was represented by 43 affiliates at the most recent Olympic Games that took place in 2004 in Athens, Greece. The Cardinal totaled 17 medals (three gold, seven silver, seven bronze).

At the 2000 Summer Games in Sydney, Australia, Stanford was represented by a total of 34 athletes and coaches. The Cardinal contingent won a total of 10 medals - four gold, three silver and three bronze.

At the 1996 Games in Atlanta, Stanford placed 49 coaches and athletes on Olympic teams, including three head United States Olympic coaches (Tara VanDerveer, women's basketball; Richard Quick, women's swimming; Skip Kenney, men's swimming). Stanford athletes accounted for 16 gold medals, one silver and one bronze in Atlanta.

At the 1992 Games in Barcelona, Cardinal athletes earned 19 medals - 10 gold, four silver and five bronze. If Stanford were a country, it would've placed 13th in the world with its 19 medals and ninth with 10 golds. Thirty-eight Stanford-affiliated athletes and coaches participated in Barcelona while 41 members of the Cardinal family took part in the 1988 Olympic Games in Seoul, Korea.

Olympic gold medalists are numerous on The Farm. Former Cardinal standout Bob Mathias won back-to-back Olympic decathlon gold medals in 1948 and '52, while swimmers Pablo Morales, Jenny Thompson, Summer Sanders, Janet Evans and Misty Hyman have become household names in the swimming world.

Morales, who helped Stanford win three straight NCAA team championships (1985-87), won three medals at the 1984 Games in Los Angeles (one gold, two silver) and two more gold medals at the 1992 Games in Barcelona. Evans won three golds in the 1988 Games in Seoul, and one gold and one silver in Barcelona, while Sanders won four medals in Barcelona; two gold, one silver and one bronze. Thompson is the most decorated athlete in Olympic history with 12 medals (eight gold, three silver, one bronze). Hyman added her name to the list of Stanford swimming greats by winning the 2000 Olympic gold medal in the 200 meter butterfly to pull off one of the biggest upsets of the Sydney Olympiad.

A list of the great student-athletes in the history of Stanford Athletics would be difficult to even come close to compiling but a few of the great names in the amazing history of Stanford Athletics include Tom Watson and Tiger Woods (golf); Tim Mayotte, John McEnroe and Roscoe Tanner (men's tennis); Kristin Klein, Ogona Nnamani, Kim Oden and Logan Tom (women's volleyball); Kristin Folk (women's basketball/volleyball); Jack McDowell and Mike Mussina (baseball); Julie Foudy (women's soccer); Hank Luisetti, Brevin Knight and Mark Madsen (men's basketball); Jennifer Azzi and Kate Starbird (women's basketball); Jim Plunkett, John Elway and Troy Walters (football); Debi Thomas (figure skating); Eric Heiden (speed skating) and the great Ernie Nevers (football); just to name a few.

It's no wonder Stanford University is often referred to as the "NCAA's Champion of Champions."

Stanford's National Titles Home of Champions

The women's tennis team has won three NCAA titles in the past four seasons.

NCAA championships are commonplace at Stanford University. Cardinal teams have won NCAA championships at an unprecedented rate, including a national-best 73 since 1980 and 50 titles since 1990. Stanford has won at least one NCAA team championship for 29 consecutive years and has won at least four national titles in a single season nine times – again an NCAA best.

Stanford has won 18 national titles in men's tennis, 15 in women's tennis, 11 in men's water polo, nine in women's swimming, eight in men's swimming and seven in men's golf, among others. Nine Cardinal teams have won national championships.

Stanford Athletics has won 101 national championships. In NCAA competition, Cardinal teams have won 90 team titles, including 57 men's championships and an NCAA-best 33 women's titles.
